If we've learned one thing in 50 years of selling rare coins
at public auction
....it's how to sell rare coins at public auction!

A half century has passed since Stack's conducted its first public sale in October, 1935 . . . fifty years of continuous selling! . . . that's a lot of time, and a lot of public auctions.

In those five decades Stack's has catalogued and sold 465,500 lots — printed 383 sale catalogues containing 29,358 pages — and conducted more rare coin auctions than anyone else in America.

Experience of that kind has no equal. Knowledge gained in that time span cannot be matched. And, the unblemished reputation for integrity — for success — for numismatic leadership without peer.

There is but one leader in the field of numismatics . . . Stack's . . . America's oldest and largest rare coin dealer.

Think of Stack's when you think of disposing of your collection.

The American Numismatic Association, an educational, non-profit organization, is the largest and most active numismatic body in the world. It invites and welcomes to membership all worthy persons eleven years of age or older who have a sincere interest in numismatics, whether they collect coins, paper money, tokens or medals, whether advanced collectors or those only generally interested in the subject. The Association was founded in 1891, and has more than 35,000 members from every state in the Union and many foreign countries. The Association's official journal, The Numismatist, was first published in 1888 by Dr. George F. Heath. Chartered for 50 years by an Act of Congress in 1912 and renewed in perpetuity by an Act of Congress on April 10, 1962, the Association is a mutual organization for the benefit of its members.

American Numismatic Association's 8th Midwinter Convention
February 20-22, 1986

A Rarity is Created

AND YOU CAN ORDER ONE!

We have commissioned Frank Gasparro, former Chief Engraver of the United States Mint, to design and engrave the dies for a special commemorative medal depicting himself at work in his studio. In the background is the famous Liberty Cap design he proposed for the 1979 dollar (but Congress rejected the idea and mandated the Susan B. Anthony motif instead). As such this will be a medal of lasting numismatic importance. Both obverse and reverse are signed with his FG initials, as used on the official U.S. coinage designs he prepared when he was at the Mint. The reverse of each medal, also engraved by Frank Gasparro, features the famous Bowers and Merena Galleries "griffin" trademark.

Each medal is in Gem Brilliant Proof condition, is struck of virtually pure (.999 fine) silver, weighs one ounce, and is larger than a silver dollar.

Medals will be struck to fill orders received, but in no instance will more than 1,000 pieces totally be made. Thus, each medal will be a numismatic rarity. After striking, the 1985-dated reverse die will be destroyed, thus insuring the integrity of the issue.

You may order as many medals as you wish; however, in the event of oversubscription, we reserve the right to reduce quantity orders or to assign orders on a lottery basis, with preference given to single orders first. If desired, you may order a custom black plastic holder for your medal. Each medal is priced at $19.95 postpaid, and each holder is $3.95 postpaid. Use the coupon below. All orders must be postmarked on or before December 31, 1985.

1986 Shows on the Horizon

With the year drawing to a close, it's not too soon to begin planning your itinerary for the exciting 1986 coin shows. Such events are the heart of collecting activity, and I plan to make myself available to you at as many of them as time permits. The Michigan State Numismatic Association show, held November 29 and 30, and the upcoming Florida United Numismatists (FUN) show, January 2-5, typically are ambitious affairs. This year I attended a number of shows on the East Coast and look forward to representing the ANA at a greater number of West Coast gatherings in 1986.

Early next year you'll want to attend the ANA's 8th Midwinter Convention in Salt Lake City, Utah, February 20-22. Just prior to opening day, a special three-day numismatic seminar will be presented February 16-19 and will offer courses on grading and counterfeit detection, conducted by ANACS staff, and U.S. commemoratives, instructed by Michael Fuljenz. For details, contact Education Director Ken Bressett at ANA headquarters.

The midwinter show promises to be much more than an assembly of numismatists—what's being planned is more of a "family affair." A visit to Salt Lake might be just the prescription for the winter doldrums. For many, the area's ski resorts are incentive enough, but the city also offers the world-famous Mormon Tabernacle, unique Salt Lake and, of course, the incomparable beauty of the Rocky Mountains. Families may want to visit the world's largest and most complete genealogical library, where they can use records and resources at no charge to trace their family lines.

My meeting with the hardworking convention committee in Salt Lake City in late October convinced me that this will be an outstanding show in all respects. Among those eagerly awaiting the event are 45 6th-grade students at the Indian Hills Middle School whom I addressed during my visit.

Liberty Commemoratives

In October I also was invited to West Point, New York, for the ceremonial striking of the first Statue of Liberty gold coins. U.S. Treasurer Katherine Ortega, Director of the Mint Donna Pope and Chief Engraver Elizabeth Jones, who designed the $5 issue, were there to assist in the striking, along with Representative Frank Annunzio and numismatic author Anthony Swiatek. Representing the ANA, Adna G. Wilde Jr. attended a simultaneous striking of the silver dollar and copper-nickel half dollar at the San Francisco Mint.

All three commemoratives will be sold at a premium, with surcharges earmarked for the Statue of Liberty/Ellis Island Foundation, which is working to restore the statue and facilities on the island.

Doings at ANA Headquarters

The month of October was a busy one for ANA headquarters in Colorado Springs. I stopped to visit the staff a few days before the opening of two new museum exhibits, "The Coinage of India" and "Paper Money Extravaganza." The first is part of the ANA's participation in the Festival of India Year in the United States, and traces the history and development of currencies in India. The display includes many impressive coins from the museum's Robert T. Herdegen Memorial Collection.

"Paper Money Extravaganza" is just what the name implies—an exciting look at all aspects of the development, production and significance of bank notes as a medium of exchange. Exhibited are notes printed by Benjamin Franklin, designs engraved by Paul Revere, rare early printing plates, uncut sheets of Continental currency and obsolete notes, and every type of regular issue U.S. currency, including a $100,000 bill.

At the opening, a live demonstration of early papermaking techniques was ably conducted by Tom Leech, a Colorado Springs printer and papermaker. The evening's honored guests—Robert Leuver, Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and J. Roy Pennell, an ANA member who has donated many outstanding specimens of paper money to the museum—were on hand for the ceremonial ribbon cutting.

Before leaving Colorado, I had a chance to see the headquarter's staff on their annual day of frivolity, Halloween. Costumes were the required dress that day, and everyone participated in a pot-luck luncheon. A special reason for their high spirits was the announcement of a $1,000 grant presented to the ANA museum by the Institute of Museum Services for an assessment program.

In closing, I'd like to wish all of you a joyous holiday season. May it be filled with numismatic surprises!

Florence M. Schook

"Count Czapski" Receives Society's Vote

At the October meeting of the Polish American Numismatic Society, with Lucien Chojewski presiding, a unanimous vote indicated and called for a commendation of the editors of The Numismatist for the inclusion in said publication of Jan L. Perkowski's "The Personal Counterstamps of Count Czapski" (August 1985, pp. 1539-40).

All agreed this article was not merely educational, but fascinating.

Arthur J. Majewski

Reader Points Out Dead Giveaway

Thank you for the latest issue of The Numismatist. I was intrigued by the excellently written and commendable article "Operation Bernhard: The Ultimate Counterfeiting Scheme" (September 1985, pp. 1766-72) by Steven A. Feller and Charles E. Hamilton.

I have researched this subject in considerable depth and wrote a long article for Coin and Medal News, with pictures of the actual counterfeiters and methods of detection. As an English dealer, I am most concerned that [the diagnostics of counterfeit notes] should be common knowledge among collectors who otherwise [might] pay high prices for comparatively worthless forgeries.

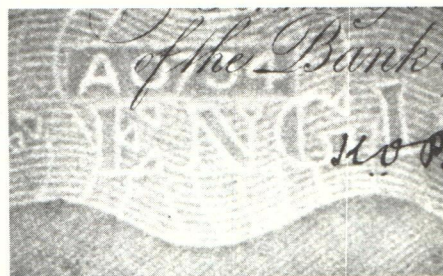

There is one simple method of determining a forgery—the authors actually showed the comparison pictures but failed to point it out! Concerning Figure 3, a detail of the watermark, the authors write "The N in ENG on the counterfeit note is slightly askew." This may be so, though not easy to identify. What is easy to spot is the curved line that runs from the triangular "toe" of the first stroke of that letter N to the bottom of the watermark.

If the line starts slightly to the left, the note is British; if it starts from the center, it is German. It takes a split second to decide whether a note is genuine or forged. The Germans claim they did it deliberately so that they could identify their own forgeries.

To add to the information given by the authors: "... the notes actually were tested in Switzerland, where they proved so convincing that a bank certified their validity." It was worse than that! The Swiss bank sent the notes to the Bank of England, which verified them! What happened was that the British Secret Service had detected two different grades of German forgeries and stopped looking. It was a long time before the top-grade forgery was identified.

What the article failed to point out is that it is a criminal offense to knowingly possess a forged Bank of England note. It would be wrong to assume that an American could ignore this law with impunity. There is a reciprocal arrangement between the United States Secret Service and our own. Recently this resulted in a very large forgery of modern American bills being confiscated, and the men concerned were arrested and handed over to U.S. agents.

If the Bank of England requested it, I think you would find U.S. agents down on your numismatic ears! I think it is a great shame that genuine collectors are not allowed to hold these historical items, but there it is.

Image-Conscious Numismatist Fights Back

Numismatics is now undergoing a change in image, and it is not a very complimentary one. Those selling numismatic items specifically to investors now advertise coins as a way to avoid paying taxes. Bullion transactions require record keeping and therefore require one to pay taxes. But because numismatics is still considered a hobby by the government, it is not treated as an investment and thus no such declaration is necessary.

Sales operations are now flaunting this hobby status as a way to beat the government and cheat on taxes. There is a major push by telephone sales people trying to sell coins, especially MS-65 specimens, to get around the tax issue by making numismatic investments. But it isn't limited to the telephone, as many ads carry the same theme. The result is that numismatics is gaining a bad image in the eyes of both the public and the government.

It seems we, as an organization, need to do something to change this image. Investors continually exploit numismatics, with the true collector losing in the end. Eventually, we will be regulated until it hurts, simply because these quick-buck operations use any gimmick to make a profit. With all this detrimental advertising, true numismatists—coin dealers as well as collectors—will become suspect.

Let's sort out this degrading element from our ranks. It's time for the ANA to monitor what its members are doing to the industry and to work out a plan to influence the actions of nonmembers. Let's stand together for what is right and not accept the label of cheats. Let's police our own area.

NUMISMATIC NARRATIVES

Mule Baffles Mint

One of the more offbeat error coins to come out of the Royal Canadian Mint was purchased recently by a Toronto collector. The piece, an off-metal mule, carries the obverse of a Canadian 50-cent piece and the reverse of the 1981 $100 gold design honoring the Canadian national anthem. Struck in pure nickel, it is one of four discovered in proof sets in Montreal and bears no date because both dies used were undated.

Toronto coin dealer Ingrid Smith examined the piece, pronounced it a genuine product of the Royal Mint, and noted it is possible for specimens of this type to be produced by accident because the diameters of the 50-cent piece (27.13mm) and the $100 coin (27.00mm) are similar.

In recent years, the Royal Canadian Mint reportedly has become sensitive about unauthorized coins escaping through the Mint's "back door." In 1980, a 1970 Manitoba centennial dollar, struck in gold instead of nickel, was seized by the U.S. Secret Service at the request of the Royal Mint just hours before it was to be auctioned at the ANA convention in Cincinnati.

An identical 1970 gold Manitoba dollar resides with an Ontario collector, who now values it at $25,000. Such pieces seem to be either counterfeits produced outside the mint or unauthorized specimens struck inside the mint. Both are illegal and subject to confiscation.

In the case of the just-discovered 50-cent/$100 mules, mint officials are hard pressed to prove whether the pieces are official mint errors or unauthorized products. Denis Cudahy, Royal Mint vice president of manufacturing, believes the 50-cent/$100 error was deliberately made by a dishonest employee but admitted it is possible the four known pieces were accidentally produced and escaped the mint's quality-control procedures.

The Toronto owner of the 50-cent/$100 mule, who currently wishes to remain anonymous, plans to display the piece at local club meetings and will sell it "if the right buyer comes along." The price reportedly is in the mid-four-figure range.

Kenedi Establishes Numismatic Division

Philatelic dealer Peter Kenedi of California, Incorporated and Peter Kenedi, Incorporated (of Michigan) has announced the formation of a numismatic division, which will deal in rare coins as Kenedi Numis-matcs and hold coin sales as Kenedi Numismatic Auctions. Both firms will be based on the West Coast and will offer "the same service and quality approach enjoyed by clients of the parent firm."

According to Kenedi, the new division's goal will be "to educate investors in the 'investment aspects' of rare coins. The rare coin 'product' will be fully guaranteed, the buyer will be given expert advice on areas likely to appreciate significantly, and liquidity will be assured with cash or auction sales. The Kenedi Numismatics investor must be a qualified, upscale person looking for the best advice for maximum returns."

Kenedi Numismatics and Kenedi Numismatic Auctions may be contacted at 17200 Ventura Blvd., Encino, CA 91316, telephone 800/423-3103. In California, call 818/986-5990.

Demand for Gold Increased in 1984

In its Annual Bullion Review 1984, the financial house of Samuel Montagu and Company Ltd. of London, England, points to several important trends of the 1984 gold market: the strength of the dollar was the main factor in gold's 19-percent decline during the year; offtake in the Far East more than doubled to 515 tons; and gold consumption in jewelry manufacture rose nearly 20 percent from 1983.

The Review also traces the course of the gold market during 1984; provides detailed data about production and market supplies; tells how and why demand for gold rose by 8 percent in 1984; describes gold coin sales; and reviews futures and other markets for gold.

Updating the Review, Richard Zanghetti of the firm's New York branch noted, "Consumer demand for gold has improved in 1985. However, the current climate of the market is linked to the health of the U.S. economy. A sluggish U.S. economy and unrest in South Africa helped move gold higher for a few weeks, but the resurgence of the dollar moved the price back down again by September 6. On the other hand, should inflation fears rekindle, it is expected that gold will trade at higher levels by the end of 1985."

First Statue of Liberty Coinage Struck

Secretary of the Treasury James A. Baker III struck on October 18 the first United States coin bearing a likeness of the Statue of Liberty—a .900 gold $5 piece, designed by Chief Engraver Elizabeth Jones as part of a three-coin set commemorating the 100th anniversary of the Statue of Liberty.

An audience of more than 200 special guests and members of the press at the United States Bullion Depository in West Point, New York, watched as Baker then struck a second $5 coin before turning the press over to Lee Iacocca, chairman of the Statue of Liberty/Ellis Island Centennial Commission, who donned a white glove for the third ceremonial strike. Also striking coins at West Point were Treasurer of the United States Katherine Ortega, Director of the Mint Donna Pope, Representative

Three thousand miles away in the production room of the San Francisco Assay Office, 100 guests waited via telephone for Baker's orders to strike the silver dollar and copper-nickel half dollar. Successive $1 coins were struck in San Francisco by Lt. General Robert Arter, commander of the U.S. 6th Army; Colonel Robert Rose, commander of the Presidio of San Francisco; Mint Engraver John Mercanti; and ANA Treasurer Adna G. Wilde Jr. Striking the second, third and fourth half dollars were Bryan Burke, past president of the California State Numismatic Association; sculptor Barbara Hyde; and Charles Colver, past president of the CSNA and an ANA club and district representative.

The $1 coin, commemorating Ellis Island, contains 26.73g of .900 silver and was designed by Mint engravers John Mercanti (obverse) and Matthew Peloso (reverse).

Honoring immigrants to the United States, the 30.6mm half dollar weighs 11.34g and was designed by Mint engravers Edgar Steever (obverse) and Sherl Winter (reverse).

Law 99-61, sponsored by Representative Frank Annunzio of Illinois and signed into law by the President on July 9, 1985. Surcharges from the sale of the coins, which will be used for restoration of the Statue of Liberty and Ellis Island, are $35, $7 and $2, respectively, for each gold, silver and copper-nickel piece.

Prices of the coins range from $6 for the clad half dollar to $439.50 for a six-coin set in a cherrywood presentation case. Additional price and ordering information has been mailed to customers on the Mint mailing list and to contributors to the Statue of Liberty Foundation. Others wishing to receive order forms should contact the United States Mint, U.S. Liberty Coin Program, 633 3rd St., Washington, D.C. 20220. Pre-issue discounts will be given orders received before December 31, 1985.

Report Details Silver Coinage Production

In 1984 more than 13 million troy ounces of silver was used worldwide in the minting of coins, a 120-percent increase over 1981, according to Modern Silver Coinage 1984, a catalog published by The Silver Institute. The report reveals that France, which used 3.9 million ounces of silver to mint 17 issues, was the world's largest producer of silver coinage last year, followed by Mexico (2.5 million ounces), the United States (2 million ounces) and Austria (1.7 million ounces).

Reportedly the only publication to offer authoritative data on the diameter, weight, amount of pure silver per coin and per issue, mintage figures and detailed design descriptions for each country's silver coinage, the 43-page booklet sells for $15 from The Silver Institute, 1001 Connecticut Ave., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Legislation to Create Coins and Medals

Legislation calling for the minting of gold and silver coins to commemorate the bicentennial of the United States Constitution in 1987 was introduced to Congress in September by Chairman Frank Annunzio (D-Ill.) of the House Consumer Affairs and Coinage Subcommittee. As many as one million $5 gold and ten million $1 silver pieces would be minted to historical specifications—90-percent gold coins containing just under a quarter ounce of gold, and 90-percent silver coins containing more than three-quarters of an ounce of silver.

According to the legislation, the gold coins will carry a $35 surcharge (silver coins, a $7 surcharge) to be used solely to reduce the national debt, with profits of $105 million projected. "I think the founding fathers would be proud of this measure, because it is the kind of fiscal responsibility they practiced and engrained in those leaders who followed them," says Annunzio. "The profit from the sale of the coins is not viewed as merely another source of revenue to be spent. Instead, it is a revenue measure that cannot be spent."

The legislation also calls for the striking of national medals for the Federal Commission on the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution, which would be sold to fund commission activities. The Commission would pay a 10-percent surcharge over the cost of striking the medals and would post security to guarantee reimbursement of the Mint's costs.

Shekels Of Tyre

The Famed "30 Pieces Of Silver"

To commemorate their hard-won independence from Syria, Tyre minted their famous silver Shekels from 126 BC until the outbreak of the First Jewish Revolt in 66 AD.

The obverse of the Shekels of Tyre feature the Phoenician god Melkart, who was the chief deity of the city. Melkart's characteristics were similar to those of the Greek god Hercules; he is depicted with a lion's skin around his neck, and his club is shown on the other side.

An Egyptian-style eagle dominates the Shekel's reverse. Its right claw rests on the bow of a ship, alluding to Tyre's maritime industry. The Greek letters above Melkart's club represent the date (years since achieving independence), and the surrounding inscription can be translated as "Tyre the Holy and Inviolable."

Our hoard coins are well struck on wide flans, grading Choice Very Fine. They weigh about 14 grams, similar to the U.S. half dollar. Every Shekel of Tyre has been authenticated and will be accompanied by a Professional Numismatists Guild Certificate certifying authenticity.

Because of the very small supply of hoard coins available, early orders are highly recommended to avoid possible disappointment. Contact Ira Goldberg for availability.

Established 1930

The road to religious freedom in Colonial America was rocky at best, and no one knew better of the struggle that awaited them than Catholics emigrating from Europe to the City of New York. During the days of Dutch colonial rule (1624-64), Catholic missionaries who traversed the wilderness to work with Indians were treated with some respect, but unfortunately the small Catholic lay populace did not receive the same kindness.

After the British took control of Manhattan Island in 1664, the attitude toward Catholics worsened, and, following the overthrow of King James II in 1689, the disdain grew to outright persecution. Not until the evacuation of British troops from New York City in 1783 were Catholics even allowed to hold public office.

For most Catholics who immigrated to the colonies in the 1700s, Maryland was the center of religious freedom, and it was the City of Baltimore that held the honor of being the seat of the first American Catholic bishop, John Carroll, in 1789. With growing unrest in Europe, more and more Catholics fled to the newly formed United States, causing Pope Pius VII in 1808 to add dioceses in Boston, Bardstown (Kentucky), New York City and Philadelphia. Baltimore was named an archdiocese and is still the See of the Primate of the United States. The first cathedral in the diocese of New York, the Cathedral of St. Patrick, located in Lower Manhattan on Mott Street, was blessed by John Cheverus, the Bishop of Boston, in 1815. However, the first Bishop of New York, the Most Reverend Luke Concanen, O.P. (Order of Friars Preachers, also known as the Order of St. Dominic or Dominicans), never saw his fine new cathedral, prevented as he was from leaving Italy because of the Napoleonic Wars; he died in Naples in 1810. His successor, the Reverend John Connolly, O.P., was not appointed until 1815, when Pius VII was released from his imprisonment by Napoleon, and he arrived in New York later that fall.

At that time, the diocese embraced all of New York State and the northern half of New Jersey. Four priests served the needs of about 17,000 Catholics. Bishop Connolly labored hard for the poor immigrant population, fighting for ten years to eliminate the lay trustee system. His efforts came to naught, and he died February 5, 1825.

The Reverend John Dubois, President of St. Mary's College in Emmitsburg, Maryland, was selected by Pope Leo XII to fill the vacant See of New York and was consecrated bishop on October 29, 1826. The diocese then had 18 priests, 8 churches and more than 180,000 faithful. In the ensuing years of economic uncertainty, new churches were constructed to minister to a growing population, and many individuals were recruited to the fold. The bishop's advanced age and burgeoning responsibilities necessitated the appointment of a coadjutor, John Hughes, who assisted him in the administration of the diocese. The year was 1838. With Hughes' help, the problem of lay trustees controlling church affairs—both secular and ecclesiastical—came to an end, and the church began to prosper in New York. Bishop Dubois was partially paralyzed later that year and, never fully recovering, died in December 1842.

John Hughes immediately became fourth bishop of New York. In addition to church work, he purchased property for the construction of St. John's College (now Fordham University in Rose Hill, the Bronx) and enlisted the aid of nuns and teaching brothers to institute a parochial grammar school system. Bishop Hughes' efforts gained him a coadjutor in 1844 in the person of John McCloskey. In 1847 the See was divided, with new dioceses created in Albany and Buffalo, New York. Three years later the See of New York was raised to a Metropolitan See, and John Hughes was elevated to the office of archbishop.

Archbishop John Hughes

John Cardinal McCloskey

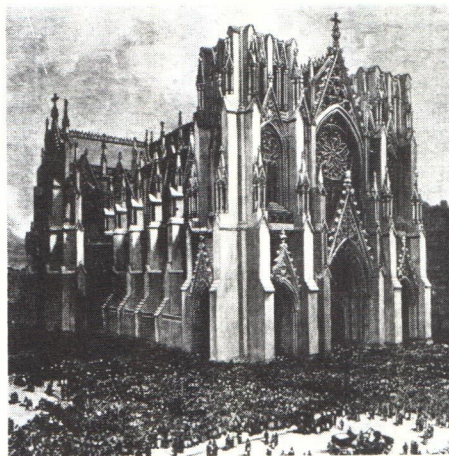

Though enlarged in 1842, the Cathedral of St. Patrick was inadequate for the dreams of the new archbishop. In 1850 Hughes announced his plans for the construction of a new Gothic-style cathedral to be built on a plot of land already owned by the church. However, the site, located at 5th Avenue and 50th Street, was far uptown of 1850s New York, the majority of whose population still lived south of 4th Street.

Hughes devoted much of his time to raising funds to build the impressive structure, and he was very aware of the immensity of his project. In a circular advocating architect James Renwick's design, Hughes said, "I may not have the consolation of seeing it consecrated, but I can not leave for my successor the honor and great privilege of seeing it begun."

Construction was carried out on a "pay-as-you-go" basis, and by 1861 funds were exhausted. With the onset of the Civil War, President Lincoln entreated Archbishop Hughes to travel to Europe to secure France's pledge of neutrality.

Death claimed John Hughes on January 3, 1865. He was succeeded by his former coadjutor, John McCloskey, then bishop of Albany, New York. The labor force was replenished after the Civil War, and construction of the new cathedral was resumed, with McCloskey taking up Hughes' commitment to complete the project. McCloskey himself journeyed to Europe in 1874 and 1878 to purchase interior fur-

Opening day of the new St. Patrick's Cathedral, May 25, 1879. The cathedral's spires were not added until 1888.

Issued to commemorate the opening of the new St. Patrick's Cathedral, this 27mm white metal piece pictures the cathedral on the obverse, the legend TO COMMEMORATE THE SOLEMN DEDICATION OF THE NEW YORK ST. thedral he had envisioned. McCloskey lived to celebrate the 50th anniversary of his ordination in June 1884, but his health soon began to fail and he died on October 10, 1885.

Michael A. Corrigan, the cardinal's coadjutor and former bishop of Newark, New Jersey, was appointed archbishop of New York in 1886. During his tenure, the church strived to expand the diocese while maintaining a sound financial footing. As archbishop, Corrigan found himself in the middle of some major controversies within the American hierarchy and was not elevated to the cardinalate. However, in 1900, with a generous contribution from Eugene Kelly, a Fordham alumnus, he began construction of the Lady's Chapel, located behind the main altar of the cathedral. On May 5, 1902, he died of injuries sustained from a fall into the chapel's excavations.

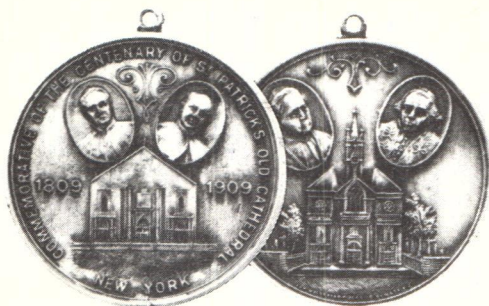

John M. Farley was named to the See of New York on September 25, 1902, and the years that followed were marked by progress. He offered the first mass in the partially completed Lady's Chapel on Christmas, 1906, and to him fell the honor of celebrating the centennial of the diocese, the consecration of the cathedral, and his own elevation to the cardinalate, all within three years' time (1908-11). The

A lead strike of a proposed death commemorative for Cardinal McCloskey, this 30mm piece evidently was not issued. The obverse features a bust of the cardinal with the legend CARDINAL McCLOSKEY; the reverse bears the inscription CARDINAL / McCLOSKEY / BORN MARCH 20, 1810 / DIED OCT. 10, 1885 within a floral border. Notice the misspelling of "McCloskey" on the reverse. Records do not substantiate the piece as an official issue of the archdiocese.

By far the largest medal issued for the diocese of New York, this 91mm cast bronze piece commemorates Archbishop Farley's elevation to the Sacred College of Cardinals in 1911. The design by Laura Gardin Fraser shows a left-facing bust of Farley and the legend JOHN CARDINAL FARLEY NOVEMBER MCMXI; on the reverse the legend SACERDOS • MDCCCLXX • EPISCOPVS • MDCCCXCV • ARCHIEPISCOPVS NEOEBORACENSIS • MCMII ("Priest 1870, Bishop 1895, Archbishop of New York 1902") encircles his coat-of-arms and a facsimile of his signature. For the general public a small pin was available, with a bust of Farley and JOHN CARDINAL FARLEY on the obverse, and his coat-of-arms and the legend IN COMMEMORATION OF HIS ELEVATION TO THE CARDINALATE 1911 on the reverse. To the suspension loop were tied two ribbons, one in red, white and blue, and the second in yellow and white.

The centennial of the diocese was celebrated with many liturgical services and a number of medals. The first such medal honors the old Cathedral of St. Patrick on Mott Street. The obverse shows the church as built in 1808 and in two flanking ovals the busts of Pope Pius VII and Bishop John Connolly, along with the legend COMMEMORATIVE OF THE CENTENARY OF ST. PATRICK'S OLD CATHEDRAL NEW YORK and the dates 1809 and 1909. The reverse depicts the exterior as reconstructed after a fire in 1866, and the busts of Pope Pius X and Archbishop John Farley.

Also issued for the centennial of the diocese was a 31mm medal suspended from a ribbon patterned after the American flag. The obverse depicts Pope Pius X on the left and Archbishop John Farley on the right, while the reverse offers the inscription CENTENARY OF THE FOUNDING OF THE DIOCESE OF NEW YORK 1808-1908.

years that followed witnessed the advent of World War I and the cardinal's declining health. He died on September 18, 1918.

Appointed to the See of New York by Pope Benedict XV in February 1919 was Patrick J. Hayes, auxiliary bishop in the military vicariate and former secretary to Archbishop Farley. His major priority during his tenure was the reorganization of the archdiocesan charity divisions, and within five years he was raised to the cardinalate. His benevolent works continued, and he became known as the Cardinal of Charity. During the Depression, he focused his efforts on educating youth and supplying jobs for those willing to work. Few new parishes were added to the archdiocese, and he delegated management of those in service to the faithful to their individual pastors.

Following Hayes' death in 1938 and the death of Pope Pius XI, the selection of a

Issued by the American Numismatic Society in conjunction with the archdiocese of New York, this 76mm medal marking the centennial of the diocese was not released until December 1909, at which time the two organizations approved the design submitted by J.E. Roine. The medal was struck by the Medallion Art Company and pictures on the obverse the seven Bishops of New York and their names: BP. J. DVBOIS • BP. CONCANEN O.P. • BP. CONNOLLY O.P. • ABP. J. HUGHES • ABP. M. CORRIGAN • CARD. ABP. McCLOSKEY and ABP. JOHN M. FARLEY. The reverse features a large central view of St. Patrick's Cathedral. In the background appears St. Peter's on Barclay Street (New York's first church) and the old Cathedral of St. Patrick. The coats-of-arms of Pope Pius VII, Archbishop Farley, Pius X and Archbishop Hughes are depicted at 12, 3, 6 and 9 o'clock, respectively, and intersect the legend CENTENARY OF THE ESTABLISHMENT OF THE DIOCESE OF NEW YORK.

St. Patrick's Cathedral was often the setting for special events and musical presentations. The International Congress of Gregorian Chant held a meeting in New York in June 1920 and performed at the cathedral, an event for which a 31mm bronze badge was issued. Suspended from a white and yellow ribbon, the medal featured the seal of the group on the obverse and an exterior view of the Lady's Chapel on the reverse.

Following Archbishop Hayes' elevation to the cardinalate and his return from the consistory, where he received his red hat, the Catholic Club held a banquet in his honor. Five hundred men gathered at New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel on the evening of April 30, 1924, for a grand time. Struck especially for the gala by Tiffany and Company was a 64mm bronze medal, with a bust of the cardinal and the legend PATRICK CARDINAL HAYES • APRIL 30, 1924 on the obverse. The reverse bears a rendering of his coat-of-arms encircled by CONGRATULATORY BANQUET • CATHOLIC CLUB.

new archbishop was delayed until after the election of Pope Pius XII, at which time Francis Spellman, auxiliary bishop of Boston, was appointed to New York. Spellman was a mover. In his early years he set about modernizing St. Patrick's Cathedral by renovating the main altar and main doors. As military vicar, he also went out among the troops during World War II, the Korean War and the Vietnam War.

However, Spellman's tenure was stormy. He witnessed the peak of expansion in portions of the diocese and the eventual closing of some parochial schools and consolidation of several parishes. Yet, at the same time, the northern regions of the archdiocese continued to grow as the city's center of population shifted. Spellman was elevated to the cardinalate in 1946, whereupon he received the personal red hat of Pope Pius XII, his very good friend.

A year after the New York World's Fair (1964-65) and the first papal visit to the United States (made by Paul VI), Cardinal Spellman was honored upon the golden jubilee of his ordination. His death the following year brought an end to a dynamic era in the archdiocese of New York and the Catholic church in America.

Spellman's former secretary, Bishop Terence Cooke, was appointed his succes-

In 1923 a bronze uniface medal, measuring 21 x 31mm, was issued upon the 75th anniversary of St. Brigid's Church in Manhattan. Designed by S. sor in 1968. He was elevated to the cardinalate in 1969 and in 1970 celebrated his 25th anniversary of ordination, a remarkably quick advancement in ecclesiastical circles. During his tenure, Cooke expanded programs to include the many Blacks and Hispanics of the archdiocese and tried to lessen the exodus of the re-

During one of his trips to Europe in World War II, Francis Cardinal Spellman met with papal medallist Mistruzzi and commissioned a cast medal for distribution to those who assisted him on his military tours. Two sizes were produced (44mm and 31mm), each with a high-relief bust of Spellman on the obverse, the legend FRANC SPELLMAN ARCHIEP NEOEB ORDINARIUS MIL EXERCITVS FOEDERAT AMERICAE CIVITATVM ("Francis Spellman Archbishop of New York, Military Vicar of the Armed Forces of the United States") and the date MCMXLIV. The reverse features a low-relief globe over which is superimposed the cardinal's coat-of-arms and a banner suggestive of the American flag. The legend reads CARITAS CHRISTI VRGET NOS ("The Love of Christ Drives Us").

Francis Cardinal Spellman

To honor Francis Cardinal Spellman on the occasion of his golden jubilee of ordination, 64mm medals in silver and bronze were struck by the Medallic Art Company. Designed by Albino Manca, the medal presents a left-facing bust of Spellman and the legend FRANCIS CARDINAL SPELLMAN • GOLDEN JUBILEE on the obverse; the reverse shows his coat-of-arms surrounded by ORDINATION TO THE HOLY PRIESTHOOD • ROME 1916-1966 NEW YORK.

Cardinal Spellman's death was marked by the Catholic Commemorative Historical Society's issuance of a silver medal. Engraved by Gilroy Roberts and struck by the Franklin Mint, the piece displays a pudgy bust of Spellman and the legend A SOLDIER OF THE LORD • FRANCIS CARDINAL SPELLMAN 1889-1967. The reverse features a rendering of his coat-of-arms and HUMANITARIAN • SCHOLAR • THEOLOGIAN.

Terence Cardinal Cooke

An interior view of St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Albino Manca also designed a 64mm medal for Archbishop Terence Cooke upon his return from Rome with the red hat of the cardinalate. Struck by the Medallic Art Company, the piece features a bust of Cooke and the legend TERENCE CARDINAL COOKE, D.D. • ARCHBISHOP OF NEW YORK on the obverse, and on the reverse his coat-of-arms encircled by ORDAINED DEC. 15TH 1945 • CONSECRATED DEC. 13TH 1965 • ELEVATED APRIL 30 1969.

For the 25th anniversary of Cardinal Cooke's ordination, a medal once again pictured St. Patrick's Cathedral. Designed by Albino Manca, the obverse displays a front view of the cathedral and the legend ST. PATRICK'S CATHEDRAL / NEW YORK. The reverse features TERENCE CARDINAL COOKE • 25TH ANNIVERSARY OF ORDINATION and the date DECEMBER 1, 1970 around Cooke's coat-of-arms. The piece was issued in two sizes—39mm and 64mm.

The Manca obverse also was used for a medal issued in the mid-1970s. The reverse in this instance bears the legend TERENCE CARDINAL COOKE • ARCHBISHOP OF NEW YORK along with Cooke's coat-of-arms.

A medal issued for the centennial marks the reappearance of Manca's 1970 obverse design; however, the dates 1879 and 1979 were added on either side of the spires. The reverse is a large rendering of Cardinal Cooke's coat-of-arms. Medals in two sizes—39mm and 64mm—were made available to the public.

For the centennial of the new cathedral's opening, a 52mm uniface medal was cast in pewter.

Pope John Paul II's visit to the United States in 1979 is commemorated on a medal minted by the Creed Company of Rhode Island. One of a series of five medals depicting stops on the Pope's U.S. tour, this piece bears a poorly executed bust of the pontiff on the obverse and a modification of the St. Patrick's Cathedral centennial logo on the reverse.

ligious from their vows.

Cooke also hosted a visit by Pope John Paul II and celebrated the centennial of St. Patrick's Cathedral in 1979, and in 1983 observed the 175th anniversary of the diocese. However, the energetic cardinal began to suffer the greater effects of leukemia, and in October 1983 he finally succumbed to the disease.

His successor, John Joseph O'Connor, bishop of Scranton, Pennsylvania, was installed as eleventh bishop, eighth archbishop of New York on March 19, 1984, and, much to everyone's expectations, was elevated to the Sacred College of Cardinals on May 25, 1985.

The 175th anniversary of the diocese was celebrated with gala activities and two medals. Minted in Italy, both pieces are of high relief and struck in silvered bronze. One depicts the cathedral against the skyline of New York's business district, above which is the legend SAINT PATRICK'S CATHEDRAL NEW YORK; the reverse displays Cooke's coat-of-arms. The second medal offers a front view of the cathedral and the busts of Pope Paul VI and Pope John Paul II, both of whom visited the historic church. The reverse details four bas-relief figures from the door of the church: St. John Neumann, St. Patrick, St. Elizabeth A. Seton and B. Kateri Tekakwitha. Two sizes were minted and the dies were muled, resulting in a total of five varieties.

THE 30-DAY RETURN PRIVILEGE

As a further means of providing full satisfaction to their customers, PNG member-dealers have adopted a 30-day return privilege. This allows an ample time period during which the customer can examine his purchases and, for any justifiable reason, may return them for a prompt and full refund.

Of course, given this generous period of time, there are some restraints which apply:

1. Coins may only be sent to an authentication or certification service by the customer with the permission of the dealer because of heavy workload, sometimes exceeding the 30-day period involved.
2. Dealer-to-dealer transactions are exempt from this privilege.
3. Bullion sales, and those of bullion-type coins, are exempt since their prices are determined by metallic content rather than numismatic value.
4. Auction sales are exempt since the "Terms Governing Sale" of each auction house supercedes this privilege.
5. There is no time period that applies to any coin proven not to be genuine.

All PNG member-dealers must adhere to these rules whose formalized versions are in the PNG by-laws, further satisfying you as a consumer. This is just one more of the many advantages you receive when you do business with a member of the PNG.

ILLUSTRATIONS BY H. GENE YANCEY

She was rather neatly dressed, her thin, grey hair carefully arranged under her small hat. It didn't matter that no one wore hats any more—when she was well dressed, she wore a hat. The cane in her left hand was polished from use, and she handled it as if it were a part of her, as indeed it had been for many years.

She carefully chose her attire this morning, her appearance was important to her. Two years ago her husband passed away (in his eighty-second year), and she didn't want people to think she was incapable of taking care of herself, even though it was becoming increasingly evident that this was the case. But she was dressed well, because, after all, she was going "downtown" on business. Her husband had worked downtown years ago. He had always taken pride in his appearance, particularly when he went to work, so naturally she dressed to complement his good taste when she came to see him. The area held special memories, and habits, particularly good ones, are not easily corrupted.

The downtown area had changed considerably since her youth. Over the years the fine old establishments moved to the shopping center near the freeway and were replaced by less stable businesses. The stores changed hands often, and went in and out of business with little notice.

Several buildings were empty now. The old office where Lawrence (no one called him Larry) had worked was now a thrift shop. The windows of what was once her favorite dress shop were painted yellow, and bold red letters announced that it was now an adult book store, one of several in the area. But she had business to attend to and paid little attention. She came to this part of town this morning only because she saw a prominent advertisement in the phone book that promised to pay "Quick Cash for Your Coins." Money was important at this moment. When Lawrence retired 20 years ago, they thought they had put aside sufficient funds for their needs, but who understood or worried about inflation then. Everything cost so much. Keeping up the house seemed to take more and more of her fixed income, and now the phone company threatened to cut off her telephone if she didn't pay her bill soon. The bill had to be paid—her daily talks with Margaret had come to mean so much in the last two years. The loneliness would be unbearable if she were unable to talk to Margaret.

When she stepped up to the door of the shop and leaned on the handle, it didn't budge. This confused her, for the sign clearly said "Open." Then she saw the note taped to the door frame, RING BELL FOR ADMITTANCE. An arrow below the note pointed to a small, recessed button. She pushed the button and waited. After a few seconds she heard an annoying buzz, and much to her surprise the door swung open to her touch.

As she stepped into the shop, her first impression was the smell. The stale odor of tobacco smoke hung over the small area like a fine curtain, dimming the light and driving the palatable air before it. The owner of the shop, a large lump of a man, was seated behind a glass display case, the top of which was opaque from hundreds of greasy fingerprints. She was thankful she wore gloves.

In front of the display case were three padded stools. They looked like bar stools, but she wasn't certain. The last time she had been in a bar was when World War II ended and Lawrence took her and the Colonel out to celebrate. She thought it was unsafe at her age to try to mount such an unstable piece of furniture, so she placed her purse on one and stood neatly at attention.

The owner glanced up at her. His mood wasn't particularly good. He was a big man and felt confined in his tiny shop. He stubbed out a cigarette in the over-worked ashtray and finished filling a tube with circulated Roosevelt dimes. His rent was three weeks overdue, and the landlord had been on his case already. He had put all his extra cash, rent money included, into silver, only to witness a steady erosion of the market. It was against his nature to lose money, so he stubbornly held onto the now overpriced metal and worried about where the money for his many expenses would come from.

"Something I can do for you?" was the best he could come up with.

"I've come to sell my husband's coin collection," she replied formally. "He spent many years putting this collection together," her voice lowered, "... he loved it very much."

"Yeah, doesn't everybody. Let's see what'cha got." He wiped his hands across his T-shirt and reached out for the two small, rectangular boxes she had pulled from her handbag.

As he opened one box and took out the first coin, she noticed it was the proof Buffalo nickel Lawrence had purchased from a young dealer at the 1957 ANA convention. She couldn't remember his name, but Lawrence had corresponded with him for several years after that. She started to tell him the funny story of how Lawrence had come to buy that particular coin, but she could see that he had already given it a cursory examination and placed it aside.

However, he couldn't believe his eyes when the first holder he pulled out held the only proof Type I Buffalo nickel he had ever seen. He quickly put it aside to hide his intense interest. The next coin was even better—a full, blazing gem uncirculated 1857 Flying Eagle cent.

As he looked at each coin, he was amazed at the quantity of heavyweight material these two boxes contained. If he could buy them, he wouldn't have to worry about the rent, at least not for the next ten years or so. A smile formed on his lips.

"Well, you got some nice stuff here, but nothing spectacular." He tried to hide his excitement. "What do you need out of it?"

She began to explain that Lawrence always said that if they really needed money, they could sell the collection, that it would be a good investment. But, he passed away without telling her where to take them.

He cut her short. "We all need money. What do you want for the coins?"

She wanted to tell him how much they had meant to her husband and how each coin had a story, but he was drumming his fingers on the counter and she stopped herself. "I was hoping you would make me an offer."

He forced a smile that he thought would appear sincere and paused a moment to reflect on how much silver he would have to sell to cover his check. "I'm not sure I can move all this stuff... the market for high-grade gold is dead, and no one is buying 1936 proof sets. The rest is junk." He made his offer.

She picked at a sleeve button, unfastening then refastening it. "But Lawrence always said they would be worth much more. Are... are you certain?"

"Lady," he replied firmly, "I'm the professional here. I buy and sell this stuff every day, and I'm telling you the value isn't there. Don't blame me if your husband bought a bunch of overpriced coins. Sign this receipt and I'll give you a check for the stuff." He pushed a hastily scribbled receipt toward her.

She touched the receipt, then drew her hand away as if the paper was somehow unclean. Her indecision was overshadowed by a sudden thought. "I think I will talk to Margaret, my daughter, before I sell these." She really needed the money, but Margaret was so practical, maybe she should talk with her before selling.

He pushed his bulk to an upright position. "I might be able to stretch a little and give you five hundred more." His hands began to sweat as she picked up the coins and placed them back in the boxes. As she turned to go, he shouted in desperation, "You better take what I offer now . . . tomorrow they might be worth less!"

As she opened the door to leave, she turned slightly and remarked, "Sir, your establishment is dirty and smells . . ." she searched for the right word, "disgraceful! Good day!" Lawrence would have been upset with her, but nevertheless she felt a rush of satisfaction.

That evening, when she called Margaret, she finally broke down. "It's not that the money wasn't what I had hoped for,"

she said between sobs, "it's just that he didn't want to hear the stories."

Fortunately, Margaret remembered a couple of the firms her father had purchased the coins from. She would give her mother enough money to cover the next phone bill, and perhaps together they could visit some of these dealers. Margaret thought they were members of the American Numismatic Association, and she reminded her mother, "Remember what Dad always said about fellow ANA members?"

Plan and Protect

SHARON G. FAIT

The preceding story is, of course, fiction. Though the author may be guilty of oversimplification, as well as exaggeration, coins sometimes are purchased from the unwary for far less than fair market value.

The guilty party in the story is not the coin dealer, although his ethics are certainly disappointing. Rather, the blame for the old woman's situation falls equally on her late husband, Lawrence; her daughter, Margaret; and upon the woman herself. Several options were available to these people years earlier, and, had the proper steps been taken, the woman never would have set foot in that coin shop.

Anyone who owns coins of value should be aware of the legal and financial responsibilities this places on others. At the very least, the owner has an obligation to protect his assets during his lifetime and to plan for their utilization and disposition at the time of his death (in this instance, "disposition" is considered to be the orderly management or transfer of assets). From the facts presented in "The Collection," we may assume that Lawrence was negligent in the performance of his duty on both counts.

While the woman may have visited her bank's safe depository prior to her trip to the coin shop, the implication is that she kept the coins, the value of which might be estimated at somewhere between $50,000 and $500,000, in her home. Perhaps Lawrence had stored his collection in a desk drawer or in a shoe box stashed in a closet. It is extremely doubtful he would have kept a like amount of cash in a comparable location.

Because of the nature of coin collecting and the reality that coins are enjoyed as a hobby as well as an investment, collectors often opt for the ready availability of their collection over the inconvenience of adequate security. Regardless of how much they may tell their families the coins are worth, the very lack of adequate precautions to protect the coins against theft or loss might cause the beneficiaries to underestimate their value.

Lawrence should have secured his collection in a bank safe deposit box, home safe or other secure place. His wife should have been provided with specific information regarding the inventory of the collection, purchase price and, if known, the current market value. The inventory should have been updated periodically and a copy left in the safe deposit box.

In addition, a letter should have been attached to the inventory, giving the name, address and telephone number of at least two reputable dealers, with appropriate recommendations regarding his personal preference as to which dealer should be contacted. In some states, where the contents of safe deposit boxes are immediately inventoried at death, this suggestion may appear overly conservative. However, the risk of loss may far outweigh the temptation to conceal the collection from tax authorities.

Coins, unlike real estate, stocks and bank accounts, can be transferred with relative ease because title generally is not recorded or registered. For that reason (and because many owners do not want their estates taxed to the fullest), some may intentionally fail to mention their coin collections in their wills or otherwise provide for their disposition. Unfortunately, failure to adequately plan for the utilization and disposition of a substantial asset may be far more costly than the relative expense of a probate for the burden of state inheritance or federal estate taxes.

In many estates, valuable collections simply have disappeared, much to the consternation of expectant legatees. Others have attempted to dispose of their coins simply by writing the names of intended beneficiaries on coin envelopes or books. However, such designations may be insufficient to constitute either a gift or a testamentary bequest, and the result may be that the "wrong" person is legally entitled to the coins.

Consequently, an attorney should be consulted and plans made for the eventual disposition of the coins, just as one would plan for any valuable asset in an estate. One route frequently recommended is the inter vivos (living) trust, whereby coins are placed in trust, with the owner and his spouse as co-trustees. A provision in the trust document can provide for the appointment of an alternate trustee in the event of the death or incapacity of the owner or spouse. At the death of the co-trustees, the owner's bounty could then be distributed to the intended beneficiaries. No probate is required and the trust documents do not become public record, thereby insuring confidential treatment of the estate.

Had Lawrence placed his collection in such a trust, naming his daughter as alternate trustee, not only would Margaret have been aware of the impending sale of the coins, but also the trust document itself would have established guidelines for the sale and for the disposition of the principal and income from the resulting cash proceeds.

Although the owner-collector bears the major responsibility for the protection of and planning for his collection, the spouse also is obligated to be aware of the value of estate assets. In the eight states that recognize community property, a spouse is half owner of all assets acquired during the marriage by the labor or skill of either partner. Other states recognize a wife's dower rights in property acquired by her husband.

Anyone receiving an asset as a result of a transfer at death should determine the value of that asset and plan accordingly. Obviously, the ideal time to acquaint oneself with the worth of the collection is while the owner is living and able to provide the requisite information.

Finally, Margaret should have been more aware of her mother's financial condition and perhaps taken a more active role in protecting her mother from possible exploitation. The story implies that Margaret was aware of the existence of the coins but did not know her mother planned to sell them. Her suggestion that they go to an ANA dealer together could easily have been made earlier.

The old adage "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" bears repeating. The comparative cost of professional planning for the utilization and disposition of a valuable asset is insignificant compared to the potential economic and emotional loss. Early planning and adequate protection of one's valuable coins should be the goal of every serious collector.

The 1831 Half Cent

THE SINGULAR CIRCUMSTANCES OF ITS ORIGIN AND DEMISE

R.W. JULIAN ANA 29732

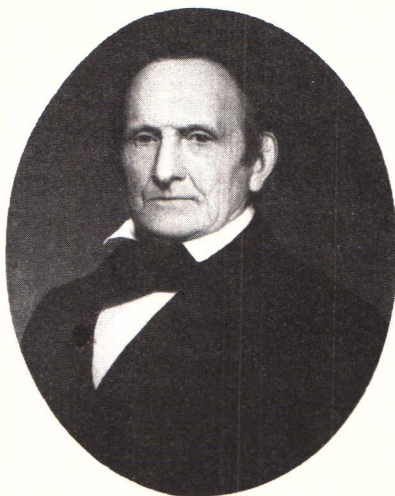

Long recognized as one of the great rarities among early copper coinage, the 1831 half cent has never ceased to fascinate collectors of this denomination. Its origin lies in a curious blend of aesthetics and mint accounting procedures, while its demise arose from a mere surplus of copper coin.

The story begins in the summer of 1824, when Mint Director Robert Patterson was forced to resign his post because of serious illness. Director for 19 years, he was so highly regarded that he was able to name as his successor Dr. Samuel Moore, his son-in-law. The new director served until his resignation at the end of June 1835.

Moore was one of those energetic men for whom progress was an all-important matter, and he was committed to leaving his personal mark on the mint and coinage. With the enthusiastic cooperation of Chief Engraver William Kneass, Moore carefully planned a series of artistic improvements to the coinage. The archaic border on the coins (in which lines radiated away from the center) was replaced by a circle of dots close to a plain border; vignettes on coins also were tightened up and improved.

The new borders first appeared on the dimes of 1828, followed closely by half dimes, quarter eagles, and half eagles in 1829. The revision did not affect the half cent until 1831, and half dollars waited until 1836 for this radical change.

After a lapse of 14 years, the striking of half cents resumed in late 1825, with some 63,000 specimens being coined during December. This coinage, despite its seemingly hurried striking, was not completely distributed until June 1826, with none recorded as leaving the mint until April, showing a singular lack of public demand. Half cent coinage of succeeding years gradually accumulated in mint stockpiles, totaling an astounding 900,000 pieces on December 31, 1829. It is not at all clear why mint officials continued to order large issues of half cent coinage when few were vended to banks and merchants. The denomination actually was used in relatively few parts of the country.

Samuel Moore, Director of the Mint from 1824-35, began his tenure by ordering a revised border design as part of his progressive plan to enhance coinage issues.

Moore found this enormous accumulation somewhat distasteful and toward the latter part of 1829 made a fundamental change in the accounting procedures for copper coinage at the Philadelphia Mint. Prior to September 30, 1829, the practice of the coiner was to deliver copper coinage on hand (at the end of a given quarter) to the treasurer of the mint, even though it physically remained in the coiner's vaults.

The 1829 regulations required the coiner to report the actual coinage of a given year, whether or not it all had been officially delivered by warrant to the treasurer. The new system worked reasonably well for a year or two but then broke down when the treasurer and director became confused on just what coins had been struck and delivered. The coiner seems not to have been consulted very often, because by 1835 the director was reporting copper coinage in his annual report to the President in excess of that actually struck.

No one caught these errors, for it was still the coiner's records upon which the official reports were made to Treasury Department accountants in Washington. The director's annual report became increasingly divorced from reality as Moore lost sight of the copper coinage actually being produced. (There was, however, no similar problem with the numbers of gold and silver coins reported.) The published figures for the 1831-35 half cents are at least 100,000 pieces above actual coinage for the period. The situation was not rectified until 1836 when a new director, Robert M. Patterson, ordered that the annual report reflect reality, not confusion.

With the above in mind, the lowly half cent was scheduled for its face lift at the end of 1830 or sometime early in 1831. Kneass prepared new dies incorporating the revised border and made subtle alterations in the old Reich design of 1809. The result was a distinct improvement, a credit to Kneass and to Moore's policy of improving the coinage.

To see the practical results of the modified design, Chief Coiner Adam Eckfeldt was directed to strike a reasonable number of 1831 half cents. Eckfeldt did just this, striking 2,200 pieces. Precisely when this was done in 1831 is not known, since the original account books showing actual coinage by date for this period are missing. At the same time, and mostly for official collectors within the walls of the mint (but also for a few outside numismatists), Eckfeldt struck a limited number of proof 1831 half cents, perhaps in the range of 20 or 30 pieces.

In his magisterial work on half cents recently published, Walter Breen records some nine 1831 proof specimens as known to him from the literature or by personal inspection. Others may, of course, remain to be found in some long-forgotten collections.

The 2,200 pieces produced as business strikes were made from copper planchets sent to America by Matthew R. Boulton in mid-1825, but it is not clear at present if the proof coins were from this copper or not. For reasons of prestige and quality, mint officials may have thought it proper to produce a small quantity of fresh blanks just for this purpose. By 1831 the planchets of 1825 most likely were well tarnished from the damp Philadelphia air; it may be that the coiner merely burnished the old planchets very carefully before striking. Only a careful examination of the coinage will determine the source of the planchets for the proof coinage. (There can be no doubt whatsoever that the 2,200 half cents of 1831 were struck as a test of the new dies. With hundreds of thousands of unwanted half cents stored in mint vaults, it could signify nothing else.)

It may well be that Director Moore simply did not like issuing coins with the old borders to the public.

Dr. Moore, in preparing his annual report during the waning days of 1831, duly recorded the striking of 2,200 half cents in a letter to the President. What Moore did not mention, however, was that the mint was then engaged in melting large numbers of struck half cents to use as alloy in the coinage of silver and gold. Because good copper was hard to acquire at a reasonable price in the 1830s, Moore simply ordered the use of struck half cents, which the mint was having difficulty vending to an uninterested public.

The mint still had a stock of 1831 half cents on hand, perhaps as late as December 1832, and did fill an occasional request from collectors and others wanting an example of the latest date in the half cent series. Production of half cent coinage, despite the large inventory, resumed in 1832 (toward the latter part of the year?), invalidating any reason for keeping the 1831 half cents on hand as current coinage for occasional distribution to interested parties. Their doom was sealed.

That the mint would melt half cents of 1828-29 on one hand and simultaneously strike new coinage is one of the great oddities of the whole affair. It may well be that Director Moore simply did not like issuing coins with the old borders to the public. It certainly would have been easier to use the blank planchets on hand.

The use of struck half cents from the late 1820s as alloy for the precious metal coinage continued unabated throughout 1832 and early 1833. On June 19, 1833, the mint director signed a warrant (#21) formally recognizing that 160,186 struck half cents had been melted for alloy from early 1830 until that time. This amounts to about two short tons of half cents, which makes quite a dent in the published figures for 1828 and 1829, the two years that would have been most affected.

At the same time the meltings were officially acknowledged by a warrant, the director of the mint recorded the official delivery of 154,000 additional half cents struck "in 1832 and 1833," the first such warrant for this denomination since 1829. There is no warrant for delivery of the 2,200 half cents of 1831, showing that this coinage officially never left the coiner's hands. Of course, the statement of the coinage executed in 1832 and 1833 may have included the 1831 half cents by inference, but this we will never know.

Considering the great rarity of 1831 business strikes (Breen thinks perhaps a dozen such pieces exist), it is abundantly clear that most of the 2,200 half cents struck in 1831 were caught up in the great melt for precious-metals alloy in 1832 or 1833. Most of the few that escaped were souvenirs obtained at the mint by private citizens, who, for whatever reasons, wanted a copy of the latest coinage. Some of these pieces, for example, may well have graced the Christmas stockings of Philadelphia youngsters in December 1831. A fresh coinage probably was available by December 1832, making the 1831 half cents out-of-date and ready for destruction in the melting pots.

When coin collecting became popular in the 1850s, mint officials brought the old dies out of storage and began to strike 1831 half cents for collectors. No one was then aware, however, that the original reverse used for the 1831 half cent coinage had broken and was discarded in 1832. The restrikers actually used reverse dies of other dates, a fact that was not noticed, except in one case, until a much later time. Those few collectors lucky enough to own an original 1831 half cent possess an interesting piece of early mint history.

TONGA

Britain's Queen Mother Honored

The Pacific island kingdom of Tonga has released a five-coin set honoring Britain's Queen Mother Elizabeth on the occasion of her 85th birthday in August 1985. Elizabeth is held in especially high regard in Tonga because she was born in the same year as Tonga's cherished Queen Salote, whose visit to England in 1953, during the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II, made a grand impression on the British people and brought the two kingdoms closer together.

The common obverse portrays Tongan King Taufa'ahau Tupou and the date 1985, while each reverse bears a different design pertaining to the Queen Mother's long and eventful life. Sets containing the platinum 1 hau denomination, 22kt-gold 10 pa'anga, 9kt-gold 10 pa'anga, sterling silver 1 pa'anga, silverclad 1 pa'anga, and copper-nickel 50 seniti are available from the Pobjoy Mint, 92 Oldfields Rd., Sutton, Surrey, England.

BERMUDA

Crown Features Maklouf Portrait

Bermuda recently commissioned the striking of a $1 legal-tender coin to commemorate an important part of Bermudian trade, the cruise liner. The 38.6mm piece, containing 28.3g of sterling silver, is the first for Bermuda to bear the new Raphael Maklouf portrait of Queen Elizabeth II.

Maklouf's engraving appears on the obverse, and the reverse features a large cruise liner at sea, seen over the roof of a traditional Bermuda buttery, a two-story building whose high ceiling and thick walls with shutter openings kept food cold and fresh in the days before refrigeration. Mintage is limited to 4,000 proofs and 2,500 uncirculated pieces, priced at US$30 and $17.50 each, respectively. Orders should be directed to the British Royal Mint.

JERSEY

Proofs Struck for St. Lawrence Parish

The British Royal Mint has released the fifth in the ongoing series of £1 coins struck for the parishes of the Bailiwick of Jersey, largest of the Channel Islands. Representing the Parish of St. Lawrence, the latest 22.5mm proof coin is struck in gold, weighing 19.6g, and in silver, weighing 11.7g.

The reverse depicts the St. Lawrence coat-of-arms—a grid iron (metal framework once used to cook over hot coals) set within a shield—and the obverse bears the Arnold Machin portrait of Queen Elizabeth II. The edge inscription reads CAE-

SARA INSULA, the Roman name for Jersey.

Gold proofs sell for US$425 each; silver proofs, $29.75. Inquiries should be addressed to the British Royal Mint.

COOK ISLANDS

Mini-Pacific Games Marked

Tiny Cook Islands, located in the South Pacific Ocean, has issued a 38.7mm commemorative $1 coin in celebration of the Mini-Pacific Games held in Rarotonga in August 1985. The piece, struck by the British Royal Mint in sterling silver proof and piedfort conditions, is limited to 2,500 and 250 specimens, respectively.

The obverse bears the Arnold Machin portrait of Queen Elizabeth II, and the reverse depicts the mythological fertility god Tangaroa, who figures prominently in the islands' culture. The proof sells for US$39, the piedfort, $79, from the British Royal Mint.

MEDALS

CANADA

Holidays Commemorated

Serge Huard of Quebec has issued two private limited-edition trade dollars, one marking "Canada Day" 1985, a second noting "Quebec Day" 1985. The reverse of the Canada Day piece features the Canadian Parliament in Ottawa and the English/French legend THE 118TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE CANADIAN CONFEDERATION / JULY 1ST 1985, while the reverse of the Quebec Day piece depicts the national assembly building in Quebec City and the French-language inscription LE QUÉBEC EN FÊTES / L'EDIFICE DE L'ASSEMBLÉE NATIONALE A QUÉBEC / 24 JUIN 1985. Each obverse shows the Huard coat-of-arms and the bilingual inscription TRADE DOLLAR DE COMMERCE.

Mintage is limited to 75 gold-finish, 75 silver-finish and 100 copper-finish pieces, which sell for US$3.25 including postage, and 25 pure silver versions that sell for $39.50. Inquiries and orders should be directed to Serge Huard, Case Postale 402, Pointe-aux-Trembles, Quebec H1B 5K3, Canada.

SWEDEN

European Music Year Celebrated

On October 24 the Swedish Mint released a sterling silver 100-krona coin commemorating 1985 as "European Music Year." Created by Bo Thoren, the obverse features the symbol of European Music Year and the legend EUROPEISKA MUSIK-ARET 1985; the reverse shows the three crowns of the country's coat-of-arms, a music staff with notes and SVERIGE / 100 KR. Orders for the 32mm coin, which sells for 150 kronor, should be directed to the Swedish Mint.

UNITED STATES

A-Mark Offers Gold Medal

A 30mm bullion medal, containing one troy ounce of .999 gold, has been released for 1985 in a mintage of 5,000 by A-Mark Precious Metals, Incorporated. The obverse carries an American eagle above the inscription LIBERTY GOLD; the reverse depicts the Liberty Bell below the legend LIFE LIBERTY HAPPINESS. Inquiries and orders for the medal, which is prepackaged in tubes containing 20 pieces, should be directed to A-Mark at 9696 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills, CA 90212, telephone 213/550-8861.

Pharmacy Commemorated

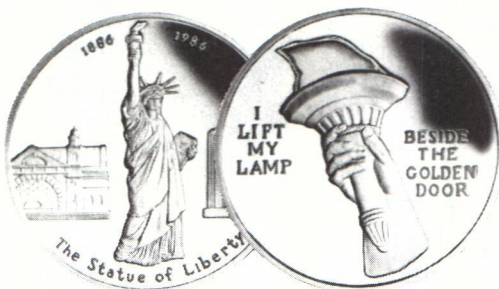

The Three R's Coin Company of Muscle Shoals, Alabama, has released a .999 silver bullion bar, depicting the pharmacy stamp of the mid-1970s, to commemorate the profession of pharmacy. The firm, owned by a pharmacist, is selling the 1-ounce bar for $15.95, plus $1.50 postage, and can be contacted at P.O. Box 2409, Muscle Shoals, AL 35662.

Official Medal Honors

Statue of Liberty/Ellis Island

An official Statue of Liberty commemorative medal, authorized by the Statue of Liberty/Ellis Island Foundation, has been designed by Anthony Jones and struck by the specialty metals division of Engelhard Corporation. Produced in pure platinum, sterling silver and silverplate, it is the only precious-metal medal currently authorized by the foundation.

The obverse portrays Miss Liberty flanked by the Great Hall on Ellis Island to the left and the skyline of Manhattan to the right. The reverse shows the statue's upraised arm and torch, together with the inscription I LIFT MY LAMP BESIDE THE GOLDEN DOOR. The flame of the torch is overlaid with copper removed from the Statue of Liberty during the present restoration.

Each 38mm medal is accompanied by a certificate of authenticity signed by Lee Iacocca, chairman of the foundation. A substantial royalty from sales will help defray renovation expenses of the statue and the buildings on Ellis Island. Inquiries should be directed to Liberty Commemorative Project, Ltd., Ten Penn Center, Suite 1000, Philadelphia, PA 19103, telephone 215/569-1986.

THE ROMAN COIN PROJECT

DAVID R. CERVIN

Originated and administered by David R. Cervin, the Roman Coin Project is a program designed for all members of the ANA, enabling them to earn Roman, Byzantine and Greek coins for their activities in numismatics. A total of ten ancient coins can be earned—five Roman coins, four Byzantine coins and one Greek coin. The program is offered free to juniors; a $12 registration fee is required of adult participants. Further information and a Roman Coin Request Form can be obtained by writing to David R. Cervin, 6201 Adirondack, Amarillo, TX 79106.

RCP Members Shine in Baltimore

Many veteran convention-goers have stated that the 94th Anniversary Convention in Baltimore was the best ever. The event ranks second best in attendance, exceeded only by the 1976 convention in New York City. Most of the Baltimore highlights can be picked up by reading The Numismatist, Coin World and Numismatic News. My comments here concern achievements of Roman Coin Project participants.

Aloma Blaylock of South Ogden, Utah, who neatly exhibited "The Queen Mums of England," is co-chairperson of the 8th Midwinter Convention to be held in Salt Lake City, Utah, February 20-22, 1986. Her co-worker is also a Blaylock—husband Richard. Aloma bubbles with enthusiasm; it is hard to talk to her without getting a feeling that you must attend the Midwinter Convention. At present, Aloma and Richard, together with sons John and William and daughter Kimberly, are the "numero uno" RCP family.

John was the first to get his feet wet, being #181 to earn a Roman coin and #65 to complete the basic portion of the program. He also earned three coins in the advanced portion and is one of only four juniors to earn both coins #6A and #6B, obtained by securing two new ANA members and completing the Intermediate Numismatic Correspondence Course—no small achievement. William presently trails with two Roman coins earned, but he plans to close the gap soon. Kimberly, #113 to complete the basic portion, has earned coins #5 and #6.

Aloma and Richard have accomplished a first for a parent duo by earning Byzantine coins #5 and #6. In addition, Richard is one of only two adults who have claimed the two coins possible in category 6, thereby equalling son John's claim to fame. It is evident that the adult Blaylocks could be the first husband-and-wife team to complete the RCP, and with the participation of their children, the Blaylock's might become the First Family of the RCP.

The list of Baltimore YN award winners reads like a Who's Who of Roman Coin Project participants. Heading the list is Barbara Stutzman of White Haven, Pennsylvania, who was named Outstanding Young Numismatist. It was doubly nice of Barbara to break the monopoly that boys seem to have on this award. Barbara, who has earned three Roman Coins, demonstrated her outstanding ability by garnering two exhibit medals: the Alan Herbert Errors/Variety Award for "A Broken Die Progression of the Current Year" and the James L. Bretton third-place award for "1971—Canadian Cased Silver Dollars—1985." Three awards at a single national convention is truly a magnificent feat!

However, Barbara was not alone in capturing three awards. Don Bonser of Hazelton, Pennsylvania, may have set a precedent in the process of winning his awards. Of the three YN literary awards presented at the ANA convention, Don was clever enough to grab two of them! He won the Abe Kosoff Memorial Literary Award for "A Numismatic Alternative for the 1980s and Beyond," and for "Off-Center or Misaligned Die?" he earned the Ray Byrne Memorial Literary Award. Although records are not available, I believe Don's double-win is unique among YN literary endeavors.

Proving he does not have a one-track mind confined only to writing, Don picked up a third-place exhibit award in the Errors/Variety class for "Die Cracking and Breakage." Two juniors, Don and Barbara, each garnering three awards may be a record in itself.

The coveted Charles H. Wolfe Sr. Award for junior best in show, the only junior honor presented during the Saturday evening awards banquet, went to James Stoutjesdyk, of Swartz Creek, Michigan, for "The Coinage of a Would-Be King," an exhibit that also earned him the James L. Bretton Award. Two superior medals at a single national convention—what a memorable week for James!

David Massey of Chamblee, Georgia, who has earned one Byzantine and four Roman coins, garnered the Gould Memorial Literary Award for "The Eagle on U.S. Coinage." His exhibit of the same title earned third-place in the U.S. Coins category.

One of the real heroes of the convention was John M. Greenslet of Reisters-town, Maryland. John, #20 to complete the RCP, co-chaired the exhibits committee with his father Phil—a thankless and seemingly endless job. However,

John was equal to the task and operated like an experienced veteran. He and his father then won the hearts of all the exhibitors by presenting each participant with their personally-designed medal. You just can't stop a talented RCP graduate!

Speaking of RCP alumni, let us not overlook George S. Cuhaj of Long Island City, New York. George, fourth to complete the RCP and now employed by the American Numismatic Society, grabbed first honors in the Local Interest Numismatics category. George showed "Contemporary Medals of James Cardinal Gibbons" (a prelate in the Baltimore archdiocese for more than 40 years).

While we're talking about adult participation in the Baltimore Convention, I am happy to report that I received the Edward T. Newell Memorial Award (coins issued prior to 1500 A.D.) for my exhibit, "A Tribute to Albert R. Frey, 1858-1926." In my opinion, Frey ranks as one of the greatest numismatists in the Western Hemisphere.

You all can be proud of the achievements of RCP participants at the Baltimore Convention. Now let's get on with this year's work in preparation for the Milwaukee Convention in August 1986. Juniors and adults alike, don't forget to write me for a Roman Coin Request Form and detailed instructions for participation in the Roman Coin Project.

Q. DAVID BOWERS

ANA Exhibit Notebook

PART I

It's Wednesday afternoon, August 21, 1985, 2:03 p.m. I am at the Baltimore Convention Center, with a portable tape recorder in hand, at the height of the ANA's 94th Anniversary Convention.

Amid what seems to be 1,001 things to do in the last few days of my ANA presidency, I have taken an hour or so to visit the exhibits. No matter how busy I am at a show, exhibits are high on my list of things to see. In fact, I haven't yet visited the dealers' bourse, and the way things are going, I'm not sure I will have the chance. In a way, I'm looking forward to my "retirement" from the presidency, because I'll be able to spend all my time as a rare coin dealer once again. However, being ANA president was an enjoyable, stimulating and once-in-a-lifetime experience I wouldn't have missed for the world.

At this year's show, nearly 500 cases are filled with just about everything—from common tokens and modern proof sets to rare gold and historical documents. Overlooking the entire proceedings is the stuffed head of a buffalo, said to have been the model for the 1913 Buffalo nickel. Come with me now as we wander down the long aisles and check out the exhibits. I won't have time to look into each and every one, but I will note some of the more unusual and interesting exhibits, at least to my eye.

Capturing my attention first is a display titled "The Communion Token Story," set up by an exhibitor identified only as #28. (To permit unbiased exhibit judging and promote security, the owners of displays are not identified.)

The notes for the exhibit tell me that communion tokens were first introduced by John Calvin and Rivet in 1560, when they petitioned the council at Geneva to approve the use of the tokens in attempt to prevent the unworthy from gaining admission to the Lord's Supper. The Reformed Church of France adopted the use of communion tokens shortly thereafter, and before much additional time had elapsed, the tokens were widely used throughout Europe and, later, the world.

The communion tokens on exhibit are round in some instances, but many examples are oval, rectangular or scalloped in form. While certain later examples show the engraver's art to a high degree and even resemble modern tokens, many others, particularly early issues, are rustic and are said to have been made by local blacksmiths and others inexperienced in the coiner's trade. Helpfully, the exhibitor provides a list of printed references about the subject of communion tokens, allowing visitors to pursue their interests as desired.

Farther down the row of exhibits, four cases of old-time ANA convention photos catch my eye. These comprise snapshots taken at the 1937, '38 and '39 shows. One of the 1938 photos from the Columbus, Ohio, event shows Ethel and Max Mehl strolling down a street, obviously outside the convention hall, while another photo depicts L.W. Hofecker changing film in a cumbersome camera, as Abe Kosoff, holding a home-movie camera, looks on. I wonder if Abe's family still has the pictures.

Still other photos are of a more formal nature and show line-ups of officers and past presidents. I notice individual snapshots with captions that identify Farran Zerbe, George Bauer, Moritz Wormser, Frank Duffield, Waldo Moore and Henri Ripstra.

Down the row a bit in the same display are pictures of the 1937 convention in Washington, D.C. Those attending the show lined up for a group portrait on the steps of the United States Capitol, with the front row containing such individuals as Amberg, Weikert, Rayson, Sargis, Ripstra, Schilke, Ross and Gregor, according to the caption. Another snapshot shows Joe and Morton Stack and their wives, while still another presents a grinning young Joe Lasser.

Here comes Harry X Boosel, so I'll turn off the recorder for a moment . . . Back again. Harry came by to tell me that he attended the 1937 convention in Washington. Harry, who will soon retire from his recent term on the ANA Board of Governors, speculated that only a few people who attended the 1937 convention are still alive today.

The fact that numismatic items don't have to be old to be interesting is the theme of another exhibit, titled "The Directors and Masters," which displays modern medals depicting directors of the United States Mint and the Canadian Mint, and is brought up to date by a medal portraying current Mint Director Donna Pope, accompanied by her signed photograph.

From the Smithsonian Institution's National Numismatic Collections comes a wonderful exhibit mounted by Associate Curator Cory Gilliland and her staff—a display of proof sheets of national currency from various Maryland cities. These "rarest of the rare" items (actually, most are unique) solicit great admiration, and it's all I can do to record a few words while stepping back from the showcases, for at least a half dozen other people also are looking.

Let's go down another aisle. Now I see a six-case exhibit titled "United States Fractional Currency Wide Margin Specimen Proofs," which tells the history of fractional currency, accompanied by nicely mounted specimen notes. Lending an interesting touch is a letter featuring the bold signature of past United States Treasurer Francis E. Spinner. As you may know, Spinner penned his signature with heavy flourishes—obviously, signing his name was one of Spinner's favorite activities! Never has a more distinctive signature appeared on U.S. paper money.

The exhibit area is crowded today, as it was yesterday. In fact, in the course of attending 31 ANA conventions over the years, I have never seen such interest in educational displays. A good sign!

Now I see another exhibit, "Seated Liberty Coinage," occupying a case by itself and containing an 1837 "no-stars" half dime, the popular 1836 Gobrecht silver dollar, an 1840 Seated Liberty silver dollar, and first-year-of-issue examples of the Seated Liberty dime, quarter and half dollar. Information concerning the mintage span, composition and weight of each coin is provided.

Nearby, I notice a set of silver U.S. nickel 5-cent pieces from 1942-45, accompanied by information about the mintage of each piece and a synopsis of their short-lived history. The case to the right contains just one coin—a 1783-dated Chalmers shilling—surrounded by six panels telling its background.

I have just spent several minutes contemplating an amazing exhibit, one capable of holding my interest for a far longer time (and then I still would not fully appreciate every item). I am referring to a line-up of five cases containing a display titled "1796—A Year of Accomplishment for the Philadelphia Mint." Illustrated with breathtakingly superb examples of coinage ranging from the half cent through the $10 piece, this marvelous exhibit shows not only obverses of the many rarities from that time, but reverses as well! For example, the 1796 half cent, a rarity in any state of preservation, is illustrated, mind you, by an uncirculated specimen of the "pole-to-cap" variety! Next to it is a high-grade very fine example of the rare and legendary 1796 half cent "without pole," while, believe it or not, a third 1796 half cent depicts the reverse die shared by both pieces!

Two varieties of the 1796 quarter are shown, with the reverse illustrated by a third coin. The same is true of the 1796 half dollar, a rarity seldom seen in any grade—never mind three of them side by side! Similarly, I almost need sunglasses to view the duplicate specimens—obverse and reverse—of each of the 1796 quarter eagle varieties, which are right next to the 1796/5 overdate half eagles (obverse and reverse) and 1798 eagles. Wow!

LUBELL ON TAXES

MYRON S. LUBELL

Myron S. Lubell currently serves as coordinator of tax studies at Florida International University in Miami. A certified public accountant and former IRS agent, Lubell holds a doctorate degree in business administration and will address tax-related questions from the readership in this column. Correspondence should be directed to Myron S. Lubell, c/o THE NUMISMATIST, 818 North Cascade Avenue, Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279.

Deducting a Home Alarm System

Many taxpayers install burglar alarms in their homes to protect valuable collectibles such as coins, stamps, works of art, oriental rugs, antiques or sterling silver. However, for such expenditures to be deductible, they must be incurred in managing, conserving or maintaining property held for investment. Even if the investment property is not currently producing income, these expenses may still be deductible.

As a coin collector, you should be prepared for the possibility that the IRS might take a long, hard look at your situation to ascertain if the property actually is held for investment purposes, not merely for personal pleasure or as a hobby. Thus, it is important to maintain adequate records to document your various numismatic transactions and prove that your collection is maintained as a profit-seeking investment.

In various letter rulings, the IRS has held that the cost of a home burglar alarm system, including installation charges, could be depreciated over a five-year period, if the primary purpose of the alarm system is to preserve and protect investment property. The tax write-off is even better if the alarm system is related to an active trade or business. In such situations, you can claim investment credit and up to $5,000 of first-year expenses in addition to the five-year depreciation write-off.

The following examples compare the 1985 tax treatment of a $3,000 home burglar alarm system based on three different assumptions:

- Collection maintained as a hobby: no tax deduction
- Collection maintained as an investment: depreciation deduction ($600 per year for five years)
- Collection maintained as an active business:

Option 1: First-year expensing (maximum deduction—$5,000)

1985 deduction: $3,000

Investment credit: 0

Option 2: Investment credit

Modified investment credit (6-percent of cost): $180

Depreciation deduction: $600 per year for five years

While these IRS letter rulings have dealt only with home burglar alarm systems, the same logic probably would apply to fire or smoke alarms. You could contend that the cost of these systems could be depreciated over a five-year period if they were installed to protect business or investment property.

Note: If adopted by Congress, President Reagan's tax proposal would significantly modify the method of computing depreciation of assets acquired and placed in service in 1986. In addition, the proposed law would eliminate investment credit for such assets. However, even if enacted by Congress, the new law would not retroactively affect depreciation deductions or investment credit on assets placed in service in 1985.

Tax Queries

Q. I am a coin dealer, and in 1985 I made several large sales, receiving cash payments from various customers. I've been told that there is a new type of report I must file with the IRS because the payments were in cash. Is this true?

A. Starting in 1985, the tax law requires that any person who receives more than $10,000 cash from one business transaction must file an information return with the IRS. The new reporting requirements are broad in scope and cover situations in which cash payments result from related transactions or if payments are made in foreign currency.

To report these cash payments, you must complete Form 8300, "Report of Cash Payments Over $10,000 Received in a Trade or Business." Be careful! Failure to comply with the new filing requirements can result in the imposition of civil penalties. Criminal penalties also may be imposed for willful failure to file Form 8300.

NUMISMATIC VIGNETTES

GLENN B. SMEDLEY

■ Why did so very few people learn to read prior to the 16th century? Even before printing presses became commonplace, some literature was written in longhand for the few who knew how to read, mostly those in leading centers of learning.

Obviously there wasn't much incentive to learn to read when there wasn't much to read, the result of a lack of paper on which to write or print. Today, the problem is finding enough worthy of being read, with the result that a lot of ink-on-paper is repetitious, political hoopla, sex related or just plain rubbish. Remember the debates a few months ago about how the World Series would be played in a lightless Wrigley Field?

■ A Connecticut firm advertises as "Arman Absentee Auctions" in Art & Antiques magazine.

■ Those who can say a lot with only a few words have always had my admiration. The following from a Reader's Digest condensation of Chuck Yeager's autobiography is a fine example: "You do what you can for as long as you can, and when you finally can't, you do the next best thing. You back up but you don't give up."

■ Here's an example of why you shouldn't believe everything you read: "The pound (British) now has a market value of little more than $1, but if it actually contained a full troy pound of silver (as it once did), at today's silver prices it would be worth more than $70" (italics mine). You may check this quotation on page 36 of the November issue of Coins magazine.

■ Money can be an expensive commodity! Do you remember when, some six years ago, the Hunt brothers of Dallas tried to corner the silver market? Before the collapse in 1980, they acquired 59 million ounces, according to a recent AP news item. By now they have sold off more than 50 million ounces, said a named spokesman, at a loss of some $2 billion, largely interest on money borrowed for the purchases.

Might dispersal of this hoard effect an increase in the market price of silver?

■ One lot in a mail-bid auction last summer was an item I didn't have in my Brenner collection. Oddly, it was not attributed to V.D.B. (it is one of his few unsigned pieces), although it is clearly recorded so by the American Numismatic Society.

The small piece was a bronze ANS 50th anniversary medal by Tiffany from the H.O. Granberg collection. According to ANS records, 100 were struck in bronze, 25 in silver and 1 in gold. Since the catalog didn't attribute it to Brenner, I reasoned that it wouldn't draw top bidding.

Alas, how wrong I was, weighing my knowledge of Brenner work too heavily and underrating the interest of collectors of ANS and Tiffany memorabilia. Maybe other bidders also were aware it was a Brenner item. In any case, the $310 winning bid practically doubled my offer.

■ Some 33 years ago, a well-known company published a booklet entitled "The Eight Precious Metals." Only three of these metals are known well enough for most of us to even name—silver, gold and platinum. The surprising thing about the booklet is that it was published by The International Nickel Company, Inc.

Various properties of the metals and their common alloys are given, a surprising (to me) fact being that "gold filled" metal may contain as little as 5-percent pure gold, and if less than 5 percent, it may be marked "rolled gold plate." "Nickel-silver" is a base metal alloy of silvery color that contains no silver, a typical composition being 65-percent copper, 18-percent nickel and 17-percent zinc. Nickel and silver cannot be combined to form a practical alloy.

ANA CERTIFICATION SERVICE

Counterfeit 1805/5 Cent

Last month's column dealt with "California" counterfeits, in particular a deceptive "1851 over inverted 18" large cent. Another counterfeit originating in the California area is the 1805/5 cent (Sheldon 267), which shares many of the basic characteristics of the aforementioned piece. It, too, appears to be well struck and uncirculated, and displays acceptable luster and even, chocolate brown color. The weight and diameter conform to original mint standards.

Diagnostics are few, with depressions appearing in the date and drapery, and in the fields to the right of the Y of LIBERTY and above the M of AMERICA. Pits are evident in the left end of the ribbon on the reverse.

Seminar to Precede 8th Midwinter Convention

An ANA-sponsored seminar is scheduled for February 16-19, 1986, at Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge, 122 West South Temple, in Salt Lake City, directly preceding the 8th midwinter convention. The program commences on Sunday evening, February 16, with registration and a welcome reception featuring ANA President Florence Schook as keynote speaker. Her address will focus on genealogical research, a subject of personal interest to her, and the vast resources available to Salt Lake City visitors at its genealogical library. Schook will offer some pointers about beginning ancestral study and using the library's resources.

Seminar sessions will run from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., Monday through Wednesday. Two practical courses for coin collectors will be taught by ANA staff members. Richard Montgomery, ANACS director, will instruct "Detection of Counterfeit and Altered Coins," a course acquainting students with equipment and resource materials used to determine the authenticity of coins. A second course, "U.S. Coin Grading," conducted by ANACS authenticator J.P. Martin, comprises a survey of ANA grading standards for every type of U.S. coin—copper, silver, nickel and gold—with emphasis on uncirculated pieces.

Former ANACS authenticator and commemorative specialist Michael Fuljenz will instruct "Commemorative Coins," discussing the designs and rarity of U.S. commemoratives and their appeal to collectors and investors, along with price trends, counterfeits and grading.

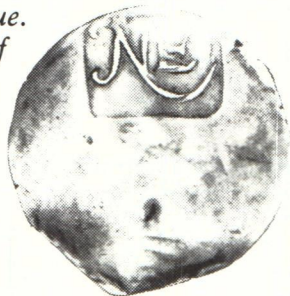

Additional information regarding registration, accommodations and courses can be obtained from Judy Padgett, Seminar Coordinator, 818 North Cascade Avenue, Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279.

Alternate Convention Hotel Named

Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge, situated in downtown Salt Lake City across the street from historic Temple Square, has been designated the alternate convention hotel for the ANA's 8th Midwinter Convention, February 20-22, 1986. Salt Lake International Airport is a mere ten minutes away, and hotel guests will find many of the city's most popular attractions within walking distance.

Great for those on a budget, Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge offers ANA conventioners a special rate, with single accommodations priced at $34 per night, and doubles, $39. Reservation request cards are available from the Convention Office, American Numismatic Association, 818 North Cascade Avenue, Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279. Deadline for receipt of reservations is February 1, 1986.

Editor Announces New "Cash for Copy" Policy

Effective with the January 1986 issue, The Numismatist will pay authors of feature articles printed in the Association's official journal. According to Editor N. Neil Harris, "We're hopeful that this new policy will encourage authors who have not favored us with articles in the past to reconsider The Numismatist as an avenue for publishing their work. In creating this reservoir of authors, we hope to offer newer members a greater variety of popular articles."

A rate of $15 per published page has been established, with bonuses available to those authors who provide a substantial number of usable photographs or illustrations, and/or furnish material for photographic reproduction at ANA headquarters. Incidental expenses incurred by the author in preparation of an article may be reimbursed, subject to prior approval and adequate documentation.

"Perhaps now a number of professional writers in the hobby can afford to write for The Numismatist," says Harris. He went on to explain that the ANA's literary award system will remain unchanged. All ANA-member authors are eligible for the Heath Literary Award, which is presented annually for outstanding articles and includes a silver medal and $250 stipend for first place, a bronze medal and $100 for second place, and a bronze medal for third place. Articles displaying original and comprehensive research in United States numismatics may be considered for the Wayte and Olga Raymond Memorial Award, which includes a prize of $400 for first place and $200 for second place.

Manuscripts submitted for review should be typed and double-spaced, preferably on 8½x11-inch white bond paper, and should include the author's name, full address and daytime telephone number on the first page. In addition, authors are invited to submit brief biographical sketches describing their educational and professional background, hobby interests, and numismatic awards or accomplishments. Because of space requirements, the editorial staff encourages authors to limit their manuscripts to no more than 30

Clubs Encouraged to Schedule Milwaukee Meetings

The convention office soon will assign dates and locations to member clubs and affiliated organizations that wish to meet during the ANA's 95th Anniversary Convention in Milwaukee, August 6-10, 1986. To insure that groups will have adequate opportunity to schedule their events, the deadline for receipt of reservations at ANA headquarters has been extended to January 6.

All meetings will be held at the MECCA Convention Center, site of the bourse and exhibit areas and conveniently located across the street from the Hyatt Regency, the official convention hotel. To avoid conflicts that may arise from the abundance of meetings conducted in the early morning or evening, meetings can be scheduled during bourse hours.

Meeting times are assigned on a first-come/first-served basis. Clubs are urged to consider their scheduling carefully and to include an alternate choice in the event the desired time and day already have been reserved. Requests for reservation forms should be directed to the Convention Office, American Numismatic Association, 818 North Cascade Avenue, Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279.

typewritten pages, though significant articles of greater length may be accepted.

The editorial staff reserves the right to edit all material, and once accepted or published, manuscripts become the property of and are copyrighted by the American Numismatic Association. Articles are received with the understanding that they have not been submitted simultaneously to other publications.

"Our file of articles pertaining to U.S. numismatics is pretty much depleted," observes Harris. "We have a number of lengthy manuscripts but could really use a supply of shorter articles, preferably between 5 and 12 typewritten pages. More articles about North American numismatics would be welcome—I can't remember the last time we ran a story dealing with Canadian numismatics! Also, I think 'how-to' articles would receive a favorable response from our readers."

Payment for articles will be made upon publication. Interested authors are invited to send their manuscripts to the Editor, The Numismatist, 818 North Cascade Avenue, Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279. Receipt of manuscripts will be acknowledged immediately; however, the editorial staff may require 30 to 45 days to fully review an article and notify the author of its acceptance.

MUSEUM

New Exhibits Feature Indian Coinage and United States Paper Money

An appreciative audience greeted the public opening of two new exhibits in the ANA museum galleries on October 30—"Coinage of India" and "Paper Money Extravaganza"—which include important selected specimens from the ANA collections, as well as items loaned for display purposes. Present for the festivities were special guests Robert J. Leuver, director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing; Kenneth McAuley, program analyst for the BEP; and Mr. and Mrs. J. Roy Pennell

Jr., who have donated many outstanding specimens of paper money to the Association. ANA President Florence Schook and Governors David Ganz and Kenneth Haltenbeck also were on hand to help dedicate the new exhibits.

"Coinage of India," displaying coins of the Indian sub-continent, is part of the "Festival of India Year in the United States," a project authorized by President Reagan and the late Prime Minister of India Indira Gandhi. The exhibit focuses

PAPER MONEY EXTRAVAGANZA

Printed paper currencies have played an extraordinary role in the economic history of the United States. British refusal to provide for the American colonists' coinage needs led to adoption of paper money as a necessary expedient and when the Revolutionary War broke out, necessity forced the new States and their Continental Congress to finance the struggle by the same unwelcome means. By its very nature, paper currency has always been either a cause or effect of controversy.

"Continental Currency" was issued from 1775 to 1779. Unfortunately, the government was never fully able to redeem the pledge which these notes represented, and the phrase "not worth a continental," as a derogatory remark, indicated the low esteem with which they came to be regarded. Today, uncut sheets of Continental Currency are quite rare, and all of the individual notes issued by the Continental Congress are of considerable historical interest. Benjamin Franklin designed their sundial ("Fugio") emblem, which also appeared on the "Continental Dollar" pattern coin of 1776 and the "Fugio Cent" of 1787 — the first official coin of the United States. Hall and Sellers, the firm which printed the notes, was the successor to Franklin's own printing business.

In celebration of the "Paper Money Extravaganza," the American Numismatic Association offers this very special souvenir facsimile of an uncut, unused half-sheet of the famous Continental Currency of 1776. The paper, handmade and printed by Thomas Leech of Colorado Springs, incorporates the fibers and mica used in the original sheets as a deterrent to would-be counterfeiters.

COPYRIGHT 1985, AMERICAN NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION

To celebrate the dedication on October 30, 1985, of the "Paper Money Extravaganza" exhibit in the American Numismatic Association museum, a souvenir sheet depicting half an uncut sheet of Continental currency has been issued by the ANA. The note, an original specimen of which highlights the exhibit, features Benjamin Franklin's 1776 sundial/fugio design and is printed on paper composed of linen pulp, mica flakes and indigo fibers, hand-made in 18th-century fashion by Colorado Springs printer Tom Leech. The souvenir sheet is priced at $15 plus $1.50 postage, and can be ordered from the American Numismatic Association, 818 North Cascade Avenue, Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279.

on coinage of the princely native states of India, an especially strong series in the museum's cabinet thanks to the impressive Robert T. Herdegen Memorial Collection, and also includes a representative selection of specimens from other significant series in India's 2,600-year numismatic history. Many pieces are organized by topical theme, such as denomination, religious and secular symbolism, or portraits of rajahs. Six of the coins in the Indian exhibit are heretofore unpublished varieties.

"Paper Money Extravaganza" includes a set of eight panels, on loan from the Treasury Department, that numismatically illustrates the history of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Also on loan from the BEP is a spider press (circa 1900), once used to print four-subject sheets of U.S. National Bank notes, and two specimens of the highest denomination United States paper money—the $100,000 gold certificate of Series 1934. Additional themes explored in the paper money exhibit include the art of engraving, the Bank of the United States, error notes, early efforts to discourage counterfeiting, Colonial currencies, and legacies of the Civil War.

A popular attraction at the exhibits opening was an ongoing demonstration of the art of 18th-century papermaking, presented by Tom Leech of Colorado Springs, who produced the souvenir sheet issued by the ANA to celebrate the dedication of "Paper Money Extravaganza," as well as the paper upon which it was printed. Comprised of linen pulp with mica flakes and indigo fibers, the sheet depicts half an uncut sheet of Continental currency (issue of February 17, 1776, bearing Benjamin Franklin's sundial/Fugio design), an original of which highlights the paper money exhibit.

"Coinage of India" will appear through mid-1986; "Paper Money Extravaganza" is scheduled through 1987. The ANA museum, located at 818 North Cascade Avenue in Colorado Springs, Colorado, is open to the public from 8:30 a.m. until 4:00 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday, with free admission.

The Internal Revenue Service has formally determined that the American Numismatic Association is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501(c)3 of the Internal Revenue Code. Therefore, all donations—both of cash and of material with established "fair market value"—qualify as charitable contributions for income tax purposes.

Additional information can be obtained from the Museum of the American Numismatic Association, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279.

LIBRARY

Library Donation Includes Mint Literature

The Lewis M. Reagan Memorial Foundation recently donated to the ANA library 26 United States Mint reports from the years 1875-1922 and 9 volumes of the Mint director's report entitled "The Production of the Precious Metals in the United States," dated 1881-1908. Foundation director and ANA governor Kenneth Hallenbeck presented the material to librarian Nancy Green in accordance with the foundation's purpose of supporting significant numismatic projects.

The Lewis M. Reagan Memorial Foundation was established shortly after the 1961 death of Reagan, who served as ANA general secretary for nearly two decades, ably performing these duties while a mathematics professor at Wichita State University. Abe Kosoff and Sol Kaplan were the prime movers in forming the foundation, which has contributed Young Numismatist scholarships to ANA Summer Seminars and aided the ANA museum with cash donations that enabled the addition of temporary staff members.

The substantial donation of the Mint reports provides additional research material for ANA members, who may borrow duplicate copies of reports for the cost of postage and insurance. Requests for information and material should be addressed to ANA Library, 818 North Cascade Avenue, Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279.

The obverse, designed by FCC member Glenn Jacob, shows the historic Chadbourne Carriage House in Fremont. The reverse carries the club logo along with the scheduled date of the FCC's 14th annual coin show, August 17, 1986.

The entire serially-numbered issue of 30 gold medals has been sold to FCC members. However, 100 .999 fine silver pieces are available and sell for $25, while bronze and antiqued bronze medals, with mintages of 1,000 each, may be purchased for $2 postpaid from the FCC, P.O. Box 1401, Fremont, CA 94536.

of Texas in 1986. Karla Galindo and Joe B. Davis are compiling information from members to produce a booklet on the history of Texas numismatics, the TNA and its member clubs.

Also in the formative stage is a TNA traveling exhibit comprising Texas coinage, tokens, medals, paper money and related numismatic items. Many requests for the exhibit have been received from around the state and most of the year already has been reserved for showing.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the TNA history booklet should contact Karla Galindo, Box 12217, San Antonio, TX 78212. Information about the TNA traveling exhibit, as well as procedures for donating items, can be obtained from TNA Sesquicentennial Coordinator Miriam Gilmore, 315 Vance Jackson, C26, San Antonio, TX 78201.

Chicago Coin Club (LC-7)

Chicago's Midland Hotel provided an appropriately nostalgic setting for the Chicago Coin Club's 800th-meeting celebration in September and for the accompanying expressions of tribute to the club's past and expectations for its future.

Margo Russell, recently retired Coin World editor, addressed the gathering, referring to the two-headed bust of the Roman god Janus (depicted with the inscription WHAT'S PAST IS PROLOGUE on the CCC's 800th meeting commemorative medal) as a symbolic illustration of the hobby's present position in time. She stressed the necessity of using available technology, combined with hard work, to reach and educate potential collectors.

A 300-page commemorative volume titled Perspectives in Numismatics, edited by Saul Needleman and dedicated to the memory of long-time club member M. Vernon Sheldon, includes a chapter by Carl Wolf and Jennie Sochon detailing CCC history. R.S. Yeoman wrote the introduction to the book's varied essays by such authors as David Sears, Miguel L.

a reminder of the first KSNA show 25 years ago, elongated 1960 dimes and cents were available for purchase.

Exhibit awards were presented in five categories. Donald Young took first place in U.S. coins for his display of 1984 Olympic commemorative gold coins; Bernard Allgeier placed first in paper money for his exhibit of fractional currency; Mike Young garnered top honors in foreign coins with a collection of modern United Kingdom coinage; Carson Torpey led the miscellaneous category with "Ships of Exploration"; and Michael Cardwell Jr. displayed the best junior exhibit, "Penny Power Cents, 1793-1985."

New KSNA officers installed at a board meeting held during the convention were Bernard Allgeier, president; Steve Kommer, first vice president; George Pfeffer, second vice president; Greg Claypool, treasurer; and Carson Torpey, George Sullivan and Donald Young, directors.

The California State Numismatic Association (C-14488) has issued medallions depicting the State's official tallship, THE CALIFORNIAN, to commemorate the 77th semi-annual CSNA convention held in November. Silver and bronze versions can be ordered for $20 and $1, respectively, plus a self-addressed, stamped envelope, from Charles Colver, 611 N. Banna Ave., Covina, CA 91724.

Only those members enlisting two or more new applicants are considered in this listing of top recruiters. However, the efforts of all recruiters are greatly needed and appreciated.

Applications published in the October issue have been accepted for membership. The following applications, representing membership numbers 129237 through 129779 inclusive and LM-3692 through LM-3720 inclusive, were received before October 10, 1985. Unless accompanied by one of the following codes—(A) Associate, (J) Junior, (LM) Life Member, (CLM) Converted to Life Membership—all applications are for Regular Membership. If no objections are filed prior to January 1, 1986, these applicants will become members on that date and notice to that effect will appear in the February 1986 issue. Absence of a state heading indicates that no applications were received from that state.

Association bylaws require publication of each application but not necessarily the applicant's mailing address. However, if the option to omit the street or box number was not exercised on the application form, it has been published herein. Such applicants should realize that numerous mailings will follow from various dealers and other numismatic organizations that scan the monthly publication of applicants.

The Association cannot prevent such use of your address now and in the future. However, the ANA has not and will not release applicants' or members' addresses at any time for any purpose beyond this initial publication.

OBITUARIES

Virginia Culver ANA 39457

Virginia Culver, the first woman to be elected president of the American Numismatic Association, died October 24 during surgery at a San Dimas, California, hospital following a massive stroke. She was 63 years old. Funeral services were held October 29 at Hillside Church, Rosehill Cemetery in Whittier, California.

Culver became the 38th president of the ANA after being declared the victor in the contested 1973 election, in which she received 53 percent of the vote. Her term as president was marked by a thorough revitalization of the ANA as she moved to set up guidelines for future election procedures. She addressed the prevalence of coin whizzing, which greatly concerned collectors at the time, and pledged her support to the nascent ANA Certification Service.

Culver expanded the role of ANA headquarters in Colorado Springs, returning full administration of the Association to the Colorado offices and strengthening the post of executive vice president. During her term, headquarters' facilities were enlarged, contracts were awarded to key personnel and employees were provided a pension plan. She also introduced the first ANA Roundtable, which brought numismatic leaders together to address issues affecting both the ANA and the hobby. She was awarded the ANA Medal of Merit in 1981.

A charter member of the Token and Medal Society, Culver's principal collecting interest was in the field of exonomia. She was elected president of TAMS in 1964 and later served as editor of the TAMS Journal. In addition to her many contributions to that publication, she also co-authored with Chester Krause the Guidebook of Franklin Mint Issues.

Culver and her husband John had recently celebrated their 39th wedding anniversary. She also is survived by a son, Raymond, and a daughter, Cathy Pichenor, of Santa Monica, California.

Her family has requested that memorials in Culver's name be addressed to the Virginia Culver Memorial Fund, American Numismatic Association, 818 North Cascade Avenue, Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279.

A GREAT PLACE ON A GREAT LAKE

Wisconsin's lakeside metropolis is a charming, clean city nestled along the sparkling shores of Lake Michigan. The area offers a multitude of unforgettable attractions, many of which are world-renowned. Though probably best known for its great beers and Brewers baseball team, this fascinating city has much more to offer. The Milwaukee Public Museum, for instance, is among the six largest museums of natural history in America. In fact, Greater Milwaukee offers a veritable treasure trove of cultural attractions, activities and events to please even the most discriminating visitor.

The long-standing Milwaukee tradition of elegant restaurants, fine accommodations and gracious service has not been exaggerated, and with an international airport only six miles from downtown and daily Amtrak service from points east and west, transportation to and from the area is surprisingly easy and economical.

There are treasures to be found everywhere in Milwaukee, and what better way to discover them than by attending the ANA's 95th Anniversary Convention in 1986. Make plans now to join us in this exceptionally friendly and hospitable city!

Lesher House

handling and insurance.

Buy a Medal - Save a Landmark!

A few years ago the American Numismatic Association acquired by donation a rather ramshackle, unprepossessing house located on the main street of Victor, Colorado. Once owned by Joseph Leshner, a numismatic entrepreneur of the early 20th century, the building normally would warrant little attention; however, few realize that it is one of the oldest "numismatic" structures remaining in Colorado.

Today, the ANA has made plans to restore the Leshner House. Part of the seven-room structure will be devoted to a small museum featuring Leshner memorabilia and other items of numismatic interest.

To raise money for the project, the ANA has authorized the production and striking of an octagonal silver medal containing one troy ounce of .925 sterling silver—a modern version of the old-time Leshner referendum dollar. Like its forerunner, the new piece was struck in Denver by a firm related to the original minting company. The obverse of the new dollar is a reproduction of the original, while the reverse attests to its fundraising purposes.

As an ANA member, you are invited to purchase one or more of the new serially-numbered silver Leshner "dollars." A limited striking of 1,000 has been completed, and the ANA has reserved the right to strike an additional 1,000 pieces if the demand warrants. However, no more than 2,000 will be produced. The dollars are priced at $30 each, and orders should include $1 to cover postage, handling and insurance. Send your request with check or money order to:

Full page dimensions are 29½ x 47 picas; half page may either be horizontal (29½ x 23 picas) or vertical (14 x 47 picas) in format; quarter page may also be horizontal (29½ x 11 picas) or vertical (14 x 23 picas); eighth page dimensions are 14 x 11 picas.

Halftones should be 120 line screen mounted. Page position may be requested but cannot be guaranteed. Proofs prior to publication are not provided.

ILLUSTRATIONS: Art should be provided by the advertiser. Photography of numismatic items will be billed at national rates.

OTHER REQUIREMENTS: No ads accepted from minors unless accompanied by signature of parent or guardian stating financial responsibility. All ads must have numismatic significance. Because of advance deadlines, prices stated in many ads may be subject to change.

REFERENCES: All advertisers are required to submit banking and trade references when advertising for the first time. Advertisers must be, or have one responsible member of their company, a member of ANA.

CONTRACTS: Available for three, six and twelve consecutive month periods, at 2, 5 and 10 percent discounts respectively when contract requirements are fulfilled. Cancelled contracts will be rebilled at the next applicable rate.

If new copy has not been received by the 5th of the month, the previous month's ad will be repeated.

REMITTANCES: Make all remittances payable to American Numismatic Association. Credit will be extended to contract advertisers only. Effective January 1, 1983, a late charge of 1½ percent will be applied to balances remaining unpaid after 30 days. Payment must accompany advertisements submitted by non-contract advertisers.

An additional discount of 5 percent will be given to contract advertisers for payment made in advance. No advertising agency commission granted.

COPY: Ad copy must be typed and be legible and double spaced. Ad copy should be on separate sheets and never in the body of a letter of transmittal. Trade names may be used, but, except for the name of corporations, the name of the responsible person of the firm must also appear.

There will be an extra charge for heavy composition.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION: The advertising department has on file the names and addresses of all advertisers. Any complaints or requests for information regarding advertisers should be referred to the advertising department.

The right to edit copy, to require payment in advance, and to decline any advertisement is specifically reserved.

Thinking of Selling?

TALK TO AUCTIONS BY BOWERS AND MERENA!

Right now we are planning our next several New York City sales. We invite you to telephone Karl Hirtzinger COLLECT to discuss your holdings, or you can simply mail us the convenient coupon below. Either way, all details will be kept in the strictest confidence.

We offer you the following:

EXPERIENCE: Of the top 10 world's record coin auction prices, we hold 8, including all 5 of the top 5! When the world's most valuable collection (the $25 million Garrett Collection of U.S. Coins owned by The Johns Hopkins University) was sold, we sold it. When the second most valuable collection (the $12.4 million Eliasberg Collection of U.S. Gold Coins) was sold, we sold it. Over a span of many years we have sold approximately $200,000,000 worth of coins for 5,000 consignors. When it comes to experience, we offer what you are seeking. Whether you have a group of coins worth $2,000 (our minimum due to bookkeeping consideration), or $25 million, you have come to the right place!

EXPERTISE: Your coins and paper money will be catalogued by such well-known numismatic experts as Q. David Bowers, Robert Rubel, Michael Hodder, Raymond N. Merena, Karl Hirtzinger, Dr. Richard Bagg, and Thomas Becker, backed up by full in-house facilities, including our Photographic Department, Graphic Arts Department, and others. The result is a beautiful and authoritative catalogue which will highlight your numismatic material to its best advantage. Did you know that our catalogues have won more "Catalogue of the Year Award" honors (given by the Numismatic Literary Guild) than have ALL of our competitors combined? There must be a reason!

REASONABLE RATES: For one low commission to you, the seller, plus a fee charged to the buyer, we handle EVERYTHING - from complete insurance from the moment we acquire your coins, to cataloguing, to photography (of important pieces in full color), to advertising and publicity - in other words, all you have to do is figure out what to do with our generous check!

PLEASURABLE TRANSACTION: We offer you a pleasurable, enjoyable transaction. To put it simply, we will treat you as we ourselves would like to be treated. At Auctions by Bowers and Merena our entire team is on your side.

DISTINCTIVE COINAGE . . . FOR DISCRIMINATING COLLECTORS

For the discriminating buyer of unusual and rare coinage, we have one of the world's largest inventories. We specialize in exceptional quality U.S. Gold coinage, rare and underrated date U.S. Gold, ultra-rare U.S. Gold, gem and superb quality silver and copper type coinage and unusual world and ancient coinage in top grade. If you are a SERIOUS buyer or seller of this material, we urge you to make contact with us. For 20 years on a full-time basis, we have helped build and liquidate some of the world's finest collections of distinctive and rare coinage. We shall treat you with the seriousness that you deserve and which is lacking in today's numismatic field.

PRIVATE TREATY SALES

We quietly handle a huge amount of rare U.S. Gold and type coins. Gold and silver Proofs are always in stock, as are rare date Gold, rare date Seated Silver, and exceptional business strikes in strict Mint State-65 grade. Write today for our periodical DISTINCTIVE NUMISMATICA, free of charge.

BUYING

As is well-known to insiders in the numismatic world, we pay the strongest prices for accurately graded U.S. Gold type (Proof and business strike), U.S. Silver type (Proof and business strike), Rare date Gold (which we buy at rare date prices), Gold Rarities (1907 High-Relief Double-Eagles, 1907 Wire Edge and Rolled Edge Eagles, etc) and Ultra-Rarities (Proof Double-Eagles prior to 1889, Matte Proof Gold, rare date early issues, etc.) and any other interesting and unusual coinage. We will purchase entire collections to acquire the pieces we need.

UNIQUE GUARANTEE

Our grading is so well-known in the industry for its conservatism that we guarantee (on a contractual and legally-binding basis) to place any coinage which we sell in an independent nationally-recognized auction sale of mutual choice at the same grade as sold and we pay all selling commissions. Direct repurchases are likewise guaranteed. No other firm in numismatics provides this service at all, let alone on a contractual basis.

TURN OF THE CENTURY ADVERTISING

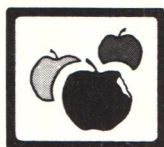

Stone Lithography was used in early American Advertising between 1870 and 1925. Each color on these lithographs required a separate hand etched 300 pound stone. Many images required 20 or more stones for production. Each image we offer is attractively mounted in a wooden frame with a glass front, enhancing matting, and accompanied by our unconditional guarantee of authenticity. As always, our full 30-day refund policy applies should you decide to return it for any reason.

2. Bank references available. (Contact Mr. Bill Whitsitt at Grand Bank, Woodall Rogers Freeway, Dallas.)
3. Call us Toll Free at (800) 527-9045, or in Texas call collect at (214) 788-5225, if you desire to sell a large collection. Or you may ship your collection with invoice to Mike Follett, 13101 Preston Road, Suite 400, Dallas, TX 75240. Within 24 to 48 hours, you will receive our generous offer by return mail.

Should you decide not to sell your collection we will return your coins immediately upon hearing from you. Naturally, the coins will be fully insured, and we will pay all postage. Through this method, you risk absolutely nothing.

4. Should you have an extremely large collection, we can and will be at your home, office, or bank anywhere in the U.S.A. within 24 hours of your call.
5. We are prepared to buy your entire collection, not just the choice material.
6. You are selling to a coin retailer, not someone who sells to another dealer. This is so important. Consequently, you will receive the highest possible price.
7. The company you will be dealing with is well known and respected throughout the numismatic world. Backed with over 30 years of experience in buying, selling, and grading coins, MIKE FOLLETT RARE COIN CO. has established itself as a leader in the numismatic fraternity.

To conclude, take advantage of our policy. It is a service that thousands of satisfied customers have found profitable and safe. We sincerely believe that we can go further in meeting your individual needs than any other buying program offered today.

OWN A UNIQUE PIECE OF ENGLISH HISTORY FOR LESS THAN $5.65!

The first British "Crown" coins (silver dollar size) were minted by the teenage King Edward VI (1547-1553). The impressive large "Crown" denomination was continued by Queen Elizabeth I (1558-1603) . . . James I (1603-1625), who authorized the famous "King James" version of the Bible . . . Oliver Cromwell (1649-1660) . . . Charles II (1650-1685) . . . William and Mary (1688-1694) . . . Queen Anne (1702-1714), who united Scotland and England forming Great Britain . . . and King George II (1727-1760), who authorized an American colony that was named after him - Georgia.

These rare and historic coins are each currently valued at up to thousands of dollars. But, fortunately for modern collectors/investors, a Brit-ish Mint has meticulously recreated all eight "Crowns" in glittering Brilliant Uncirculated golden-bronze and nickel-silver. We are pleased to offer either 8-piece commemorative "Crown" set for only $45, or just $85 for all 16 pieces. That's less than $5.65 each . . . including handsome custom inscribed holders.

Order today for yourself . . . and as unique gifts. Rush check, money order, or credit card number with expiration date (VISA or MasterCard) to the address below, or call our toll free number (800) 523-1948 with credit card orders. Along with your order be sure to request our giant, fully illustrated 185 page WORLD COIN CATALOGUE . . . absolutely free.

For a century she has stood proudly greeting immigrants to the land of freedom. Now Russian emigrant Alex Shagin celebrates his freedom with this stunning salute to the Statue of Liberty... in precious silver and gold.

The radiant look on the Statue's face and the rippling feathers of the defiant American eagle makes Shagin's design a tangible testament to the Great Lady's purpose... Liberty Enlightening the World.

A unique memento of an historic gala anniversary, a tribute to liberty, a memorable work of art; Shagin's highly detailed and superbly minted Statue of Liberty commemorative is so much more than a stamped piece of metal. Its value lies in its art and heart - 2500 years of medallion tradition.

The same detail and quality can be seen in the .999 pure gold pendant, pictured. It weighs 1/10 oz., and is ready to be worn with pride handsomely mounted in a 22 Kt. diamond cut frame.

EDWARD VIII CROWN SIZE MEDALS

The second series of 12 Edward VIII Medals has now been released. These are slightly different from the first series in that they are struck in a B.U./Prooflike finish with a milled edge. Countries in this second series are: Isle of Man, Burma, Cyprus, Gold Coast, Gibraltar, Mauritius, Palestine, Newfoundland, New Guinea, North Borneo, Sierra Leone and Southern Rhodesia. The first series consisted of medals for Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Bermuda, British East Africa, Canada, Ceylon, Falkland Islands, Hong Kong, India, Straits Settlement, South Africa and New Zealand. Prices of all medals are $7.50 each.

We specialize in bulk quantities of modern uncirculated low face value crowns and sets. Please send for our current retail list. Special wholesale list available to bonafide dealers only. Please write on your letterhead for the wholesale list. All crowns on the above listing are full 38mm crown size and B.U. as issued.

For Airmail postage to the U.S.A./Canada please add $6.50; Surface Mail postage $4.50. MasterCard and Visa credit cards welcome.

CUMBERLAND INVESTMENT CORPORATION

Any item sold as an investment may be returned within twelve months (One Year) from date of purchase for a full refund — up to 45 days may be required for settlement.

Bullion and bullion related items are not returnable. Bullion being defined as any item with a premium that does not exceed 15% over intrinsic value (IRS Code #6045).

The coin(s) must be returned in undisturbed condition in the original holder(s).

Removing coins from original holders may void all guarantees.

All items sold by Cumberland Investment Corporation are unconditionally guaranteed genuine for life.

Grading should be a precise scientific procedure which involves evaluation of minute evidence of wear, intensity of strike, brilliance of luster, color, and bag marks.

However, many people (and institutions) differ in their methods of interpretation and thereby make grading very subjective.

We at Cumberland believe that the consumer should have the opportunity to compare the actual coin not just a paper grade.

Therefore, any item listed in this ad may be returned within 12 months from the date of purchase for a full refund.

By giving a 12 month return privilege we are giving you the strongest guarantee in the industry that the coins you receive will be accurately graded.

Below listed are some select U.S. coins which we believe will entice both the collector and investor.

BUYING!

U.S. COINS TO SELL IN GERMANY!! In spite of unfavorable $.DM exchange rate, many collectors here are switching their collecting interest to U.S. coins! Commemoratives, Type Coins, and Silver Dollars are the favorites although some are putting together date and mint sets. To satisfy this new demand I am in need of all Commemoratives, most type pieces and a number of silver dollars. Please, no MS 63,65,67+ need apply! They don't understand or appreciate the difference here (nor do I), and won't pay to find out! Don't forget the over 300,000 members of the Armed Forces living here. There are a lot of collectors among them.

SELLING!

At 3-1 or better ($.DM) the U.S. collector is at a definite advantage when buying from Germany. Our fixed price lists (2-3 per year) are this country's largest (usually 100-120 pages and 25-30 pages of plates). We offer Ancients to Modern with strengths in Ancient Rome, Germanic Coinage, Holy Roman Empire, Great Britain and Commonwealth and European Types. Sample copy $5; subscription rate, 4 issues for $15.

BUYING!

We are always interested in choice Ancients, Holy Roman Empire issues, or Germanic Coinage in all metals. Send description of coins with asking price or for offer.

FREE SERVICE!

Our free attribution and appraisal service enjoys continued popularity (Ancients, Medievals, Modern). If you have some problem coins, give us a try. (No Islamic or Indian States please—that's for Steve Album!)

In Honor of The Centennial of THE STATUE OF LIBERTY, America's Foremost Symbol of Freedom, is Proud to Introduce the Ultimate Collector's Edition

"LIBERTY TRADE SILVER"

Manfra, Tordella & Brookes, Inc. proudly presents this exquisite "Liberty Trade Silver" created in immaculate PROOF quality, weighing one full troy ounce of pure .999 silver. Each piece comes encapsulated in plastic and is housed in a velvet presentation case.

Liberty Trade Silver

More than 500 years ago, when currency was less orderly than it is today, silver coins were struck to make international trade easy and convenient. Originally known as Trade Thalers in Austria, they became known in England and America as Trade Dollars. During the last century, Trade Dollars were struck in America. They were not official legal tender in America, but were widely used in Europe and the Far East as trading currency — adding impetus to the growth of free enterprise between countries. MTB is proud to re-introduce the concept of Trade Silver with the Liberty Trade Silver.

Affordable Liberty Centennial Treasure

Manfra, Tordella & Brookes Inc., has created the Liberty Trade Silver Piece in approximately the same diameter and thickness as the 19th century Trade Dollar. The convenient size (one troy ounce of pure .999 fine silver) make this piece affordable for every American family. Priced at only $29.95 plus $2.50 for postage, handling, and insurance, it will be a treasured reminder of our most famous symbol of freedom.

NEWS BULLETIN

U.S. Congress Authorizes Silver Commemorative Honoring "The Most Overlooked Man In American History"

Can you imagine that the United States would honor a Franciscan Priest on an official silver commemorative authorized by Congress and struck at the U.S. Mint in Philadelphia? Can you imagine if this Priest were to be declared a Saint by Pope John Paul II? Well, the first part has already happened...with the issuance of a National Commemorative approved by President John F. Kennedy in 1963, just a few weeks before his tragic death. And the second event appears to be imminent...with the Pope's expected trip to California to initiate Father Junipero Serra's canonization.

Over two centuries ago, Father Serra unselfishly embarked upon a life of peril, hardship and ill health to preach among native Indians...and he personally established six California Missions which would later become great cities. Providentially, it was at one of these missions — Mission San Buenaventura near Santa Barbara — where the remaining 6,000 pristine Brilliant Uncirculated examples of these official U.S. commemoratives were discovered hidden in a back room, where they had lain undisturbed for the last 22 years!

Called "the most overlooked man in American history" by Edwin R. Newman in a recent television documentary, Father Serra's statue now stands in the Capitol in Washington. This official National Commemorative Medal fits perfectly into the family of Commemorative Half Dollars honoring other famous explorers...at a fraction of their cost! The 1963 Padre Serra silver pieces have a minuscule mintage of only 9,000 and sell for only $89 — Ten for $800, in pristine Gem Brilliant Uncirculated condition. Compare this to a similarly graded 1892-3 Columbus, mintage over 2,500,000, selling for about $340; 1928 Captain Cook, mintage over 10,000, at $3250; or the 1937 Walter Raleigh, mintage over 29,000, valued at about $640. the Serra Silver Commemorative is a bargain!

First come-first served on these.

Call Toll Free 800-854-7056 or in California call collect (619) 941-1930 to order on most major credit cards. Or rush a check or money order for $89.00 to the exclusive distributor: SILVER DOLLAR COLLECTORS CLUB, LTD., 238 Indiana Avenue, P.O. Box 1867, Vista, California 92083. Please add $2.50 per order for shipping, and California residents must add 6% sales tax. There is an unconditional 30 day money back guarantee if you are not 100% satisfied.

The Numismatic Guild... The Full Service Experts.

The Numismatic Guild, one of the oldest and largest numismatic dealers in the United States, is a major force in the rare coin marketplace. For almost 40 years The Guild has helped develop comprehensive coin portfolios for both astute collectors and knowledgeable investors. In addition, we have been creating innovative numismatic investment programs for a select group of influential Financial Planners and Counselors.

As a result of The Guild's intense numismatic market activity, our Collector/Investor Group and Financial Services Division are in constant need of United States Gold and Silver Coins. At The Guild no sale/purchase is too large or too small and every transaction is handled by a skilled professional. Our vast trading volume allows us to be very generous to those selling coins and extremely competitive with those Collectors/Investors developing valued numismatic portfolios.

MYLAR®

SOURCE DUPONT "MYLAR" 2x2 INERT PROTECTION NEW - ALL COIN SIZES - NEW

ARE YOU SACRIFICING REAL MYLAR* QUALITY FOR PRICE WHEN BUYING COIN HOLDERS?

Ask your supplier if his coin holders are made of genuine DuPont Mylar or is a substitute being sold and advertised as, "same as" or "commonly known as", Mylar*, Kodar*, etc. We sell only holders made of Mylar* made by DuPont. There is a world of difference. Compare! Your expensive coins need this unique difference. Compare! Bead-sealed full inside dimensions, optical quality, sealed at extreme edge by our own process. We do not and cannot seal with heat on face of material. Genuine Mylar* does not lend itself to this type of heat sealing. We have all size holders up to large crowns. The finest coin holders made in America. Compare! The quality is obvious. For FREE samples, prices and information on coin and currency holders, send 56¢ (3 oz. poste) #10 SASE size. We will refund $1.12 with your order of twenty-five dollars or more. Double your postage back for comparing our holders with others. We have just recently sold coin and currency holders to the U.S. Government for use in Presidential Libraries. Sorry, we can no longer supply Kointains as we once did because of their quality control problems. We no longer sell vinyl items, dangerous liquid chemical dips (oxidize), or so called cleaners. Mylar* protection is our only business.

- Makes displays, exhibits and bourse attractive.
A practical easy insert.
- Does not become yellow or brittle.
- Unexcelled optical clarity, silky high gloss, mirror-like surface.
- Coins are held firmly in place in center of holder.
- Compare! The look, feel, quality.
- Abrasion resistance for hard use.
- Dimensional stability, very high tear resistance, excellent moisture shield.
- Fits display pages and trays.
- Originators of "Mylar" concept in coin and currency housing.
- A lifetime of protection.
- The ultimate in quality.
- Over 200 different sizes and gauges available for coins, currency, etc. Acid free papers and page protection. Our regular sample kit sent for $2.00, mint postage acceptable. Sales by mail only.

A-O* Alpha Omega product of imagination and innovation.

"Leaders in coin and currency protection for over 38 years."

We wish to thank the museums, libraries, hospitals and others for their valued orders.

Three separate 1985 fixed price catalogs — featuring U.S. gold coin selections, world gold coin selections, and ancient gold and silver coin selections — are offered by William Youngerman, Inc. FREE OF CHARGE.

All denominations and types are represented in the 12-page U.S. Gold Coin Catalog. Choice and gem quality pieces are offered in many series, together with a selection of branch mint issues, low-mintage, and scarce late-date gold.

Listed in the 16-page World Gold Coin Catalog are many rarities, such as the 1884 2½ pesos of Argentina, Friedberg 16 (Gold Coins of the World, by Robert Friedberg); the 1936 10 ducats of Czechoslovakia, F-4; the rare 1701 2 Louis d'Or of France, F-181; Britain's 1746 5 guineas, F-200; and many other pieces.

Highlighting the selections of coins in the 30-page Ancient Gold Coin Selections is a complete set of gold aurei of the 12 Caesars, graded from Fine to EF. A companion set of silver denarii is offered in Fleur-de-Coin condition.

There is no charge for the catalogs. Readers should check their collecting interest and send their requests to the address below.

FREE 24-PAGE GUIDE

Numismatic Assets Company, Inc. is pleased to furnish without charge a copy of our new booklet, "A Guide For Selling Your Coins". You will learn insiders' information about the advantages and pitfalls of selling at auction, where to sell inexpensive circulated coins and how to obtain the highest prices for superior quality coins. How to negotiate a sale with dealers or other collectors and in-depth details about safely using the mails to sell your coins are discussed. These and many other instructive topics provide you with a useful, interesting reference.

To receive your copy of this publication (which normally sells for $2.00 at our office), simply send your name and address with your request for "A Guide for Selling Your Coins". It will be immediately sent to you free of charge while quantities last.

COLLECTORS and INVESTORS of CLASSICAL NUMISMATICS

If you have an interest in ancient Greek, Roman, Byzantine, Medieval, and early American numismatics in the $50 to $50,000 price range, you should clip out and fill in this coupon to receive price lists offering the best values in these areas. The emphasis is placed on popular, historically important or aesthetic coins, and I will be happy to advise you which coins I feel have the best long term potential. I also recommend and sell many introductory books in ancient numismatics. The winners in coin investing usually are the intelligent, informed collectors with a good eye for quality, or at the least, a wise investor with an honest and experienced advisor.

COINS & CURRENCIES OF THE WORLD

Our first year in our new mall location has proven to be extremely successful. We are in need of choice numismatic material. Brisk inventory turnover has squelched our efforts to produce a fixed price list; however, we hope to be able to offer a list in the near future. Until such time, please feel free to send your want list for our quote.

COLLECTIONS WANTED

We are actively seeking collections—USA, Mexico and Latin American. Any size. If you are seriously thinking of selling your collection, we will either buy outright, trade for bullion coins, or handle thru one of our auctions—which ever will bring you the best price for your collection. We will also consider individual rarities, especially in gold or silver.

If interested, please contact Dr. George Vogt. We are also interested in servicing your want list.

Islands off Caria, Rhodes, c. 170 BC. AR Tetradrachm. Facing head of Helios/Rose with bud on right, EPMIAE above. 2.65 gm. IGCH 237 (ex-Sitichoro Hoard). Choice, Mint State examples $375

From a hoard found near Pharsalus, Thessaly, in 1968 come these beautiful silver coins of Rhodes, most likely minted at Macedon to pay Rhodian mercenaries. The coin type was unknown before this hoard, and although all these Rhodian tetradrachms (numbering about 1500 - 2000 pieces) did not circulate, many are off-center, displaying striking flatness, irregular flans, etc. These few pieces that I have reserved for this advertisement are unimprovable, cream-of-the-hoard examples, certainly in the upper 2% of existing specimens. For their beauty and importance they are most reasonably priced, and one of the most memorable ancients to add to or start your collection.

Write for a complimentary copy of our lists.

WE PAY MORE! WHY SELL FOR LESS?

WE WANT TO BUY: Your entire collection is urgently needed no matter what the size, if it contains the items we are looking for. Generally we are interested in any collection which contains Choice and Rare coins and early U.S. coins in AU or better condition.

SELLING TO US: You will find that selling to our Rare Coin Galleries is easy and safe. Here is all you do—Package your coins carefully and send them to us insured or registered mail. You may state the value you wish to receive or send your coins for our generous offer. Upon receipt David Bland, Jr. will personally examine your coins and notify you immediately. Our offer will be in the form of a confidential insured check—cash payments can also be arranged. No collection is too large. (we have over $1,000,000.00 to spend). If your collection is too large to mail please send an itemized inventory to the attention of David Bland, Jr. and we will travel to you if the size of the collection warrants it.

RECEIVE MORE FOR YOUR COINS: Because our needs are so great at this time we will pay more than any other major dealer in the U.S. Why sell your collection for less when it is so easy and safe to sell your coins to David Bland, Jr.?

ETHICAL

The one word that says it all in the coin business. We are fair in both buying and selling, and can make a profit and a decent living only by treating the collector, investor and fellow dealer with the respect and courtesy they deserve. Our spreads on bullion are tight; our mark-ups on collectibles are reasonable.

HASTY SELLING VS. QUICK BORROWING

Selling your collection can be profitable if you have enough time to find the best prices. But a collection sold quickly is seldom sold profitably.

In any emergency, borrow the money you need at Edelman's. Use your collection as collateral and still retain complete ownership.

At Edelman's, you can obtain quick confidential loans for any amount up to 65% of the value of your properties — from $50 to $50,000 and more. Take as long as 30 months to pay with a repayment plan tailored to your specific needs. Your collection will be safely protected in Edelman's air-conditioned vaults until you reclaim it. Write today for further information.

AMERICAN NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION CERTIFICATION SERVICE

- Renders an opinion as to whether a numismatic item is genuine or otherwise.
- Renders an opinion as to grade only on United States coins submitted for authentication. U.S. coins previously authenticated by ANACS may be graded if resubmitted with the original photo certificate and payment made for the grading fee.
- Issues a photo certificate with a registered number on genuine items. This certificate is returned with the item.
- Cannot determine valuations of items—values must be supplied by submittor.
- Cannot grade coins that have not been authenticated.
- Cannot be responsible for opening or returning special holders, or removing items from unusual packaging.
- Cannot grade foreign coins or paper money.
- Cannot authenticate or grade legal tender currency.
